LBJ 'Spendingest Ever,' Romney Says at Oshkosh

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH — Gov. George Romney of Michigan told Winnebago County Republicans here today that the United States is at the beginning of a "very, very serious inflationary spiral" because of government spending and excess power of management and unions in collective bargaining.

The unannounced candidate for president also repeated his controversial charge of "brainwashing" by President Johnson's administration through manipulation and control of information on government activity.

Romney spoke to about 350 persons at The Pioneer. His appearance was sponsored by the Winnebago County Republicans, the county Romney for President Johnson has "refused" to take measures to stem inflation "for purely political reasons," Romney charged. He said a tax increase last year could have stopped the spiral.

He predicted a $30 billion deficit this year if no tax increase is enacted. If a surtax on income is passed, he said, the deficit will be $22 or $23 billion.

"Into Bankruptcy" — "President Johnson, the spending president in American history, is spending us into bankruptcy," Romney said. He said government spending must be cut.

The effects of inflation on the poor, he said, far outweigh any isolated gains made by the war on poverty.

Excess power of both the management and union sides of collective bargaining also are accelerating the inflationary spiral, he said. "The government has failed to realize the threat of excess power in collective bargaining," he said.

He said Democratic leaders "can't deal with this problem without committing political suicide," because the party is dominated by union leaders who are the backbone of the party.

"Concentration of power in unions and management exceeds private monopolization of power at any other time in our history," he said.

The governor claimed this excess power has caused wage increases this year of 6 to 7 per cent, which "more than double any increases justified by the gains in productivity."

Foreign Markets — Excess wages are pricing United States products out of foreign markets, diminishing the bill from committee, they would want to free their own spending bills being delayed by Rasmussen.

The floodgates would be opened and legislative progress stalled in partisan battles, they warned Sen. Majority Leader Jerris Leonard, R-Bayside.

But they emerged from a closed-door caucus and gave Lorge five of their 12 votes after Rogers spoke to them today in the closed-door meeting.

Leonard had attempted to win a compromise with Lorge and the Democrats by allowing the Democrats to withdraw one of their bills from the education committee if Lorge were allowed to bring the bill should be allowed to carry their fight to the floor. The bill would change the location of the planned UW-GB branch campus from the northeast Shorewood site to the Western Larsen Farm site.

It was initiated by Assemblyman William Rogers, D-Kaukauna, and has strong backing from Outagamie County forces because of alleged traffic problems in the Green Bay area which would slow commuting students from the Fox Cities area.

Today's vote broke a deadlock which developed Tuesday morning over Lorge's attempt to bring the measure from the education committee. Democrats had warned that if Lorge were allowed to bring

Irregularities Claimed in Gary Election

Negro Hatcher Has 1,389-Vote Edge on Radigan

GARY, Ind. (AP) — Democratic attorney Richard G. Hatcher, a Negro, was declared elected mayor of this steel city today but his own party's county chairman, John Krupa, immediately announced evidence of illegal voting. Krupa, wearing his other hats as Lake County clerk and chairman of the county election board, said there was evidence of illegal procedure in three precincts. He said he would turn over the evidence to Judge George N. Boerner of the Northern Indiana U.S. District Court at Hammond. All the Gary election boards were served with federal orders to conduct a fair election. Krupa said the board refused to seat duly elected Republican members in one precinct, refused to honor challenges of illegal votes in another and failed to comply with a law requiring voters to sign the poll books in a third precinct.

The county chairman earlier certified that Hatcher received 39,330 votes to 37,941 for Republican Joseph Radigan, a white man, a margin of 1,389.

The election and count were completed without the disorders Krupa had predicted and which had caused Gov. Roger D. Branigan to send in a precautionary force of Indiana State Guardmen and state police. The guard began scattering to its home armories before noon today.

Refusing to concede victory to the 34-year-old bachelor lawyer who ran without the help of the local Democratic organization, Radigan told his supporters, "We feel there is need for further investigation before it can be decided who won this election." No formal demand for a recount had yet been made.

Stokes, 49 and a native dresser with an easy humor, backed his own Democratic Party organization to defeat Locher in the Oct. 3 primary by 13,000 votes. This time he had the backing of his party, organized labor and Cleveland's two daily newspapers, the Plain Dealer and the Cleveland Press.

He and Taft sought to avoid the racial issue but it could not be ignored and one of the heaviest votes in Cleveland's history, 257,153, turned out despite a day that began with sub-freezing temperatures and driving snow.

Stokes had been considered a slight favorite at best after a month-long campaign in which observers felt he had pulled a political blunder by agreeing to debate Taft.

Just as Liberal — Taft, running for his first political office, surprised even his opponent by the way he took to campaigning. He is a Republican in a city where all but 34,000 of its 326,000 registered voters are Democrats.

Stokes lost no time after his victory to call for a united Cleveland. He asked for his opponent to join him in building a better city.

Taft responded. He asked his supporters, who had tried to make him the first Republican mayor of Cleveland in 26 years, to "forget words spoken in heat and to think now of things that can be done to make ours a great city."

Taft said he would wait until he saw the official tally before deciding whether to call for a recount. Two years ago when Stokes lost his independent race against Democratic Mayor Ralph S. Locher by 2,143 he got a recount before he conceded.

Within Range — Stokes received heavy support from the Negro East Side. He came out of the white sections trailing but within striking range. He substantially increased his percentage of the white vote from the 17 per cent he received in the primary.

Stokes Becomes First Negro to Lead Big City

CLEVELAND (AP) — Carl B. Stokes, a product of the slums, became the first Negro Tuesday to be elected mayor of one of America's 10 largest cities.

Stokes, in all his battles up the social, economic and political ladders, never had to fight harder than he did to beat Republican Seth C. Taft for Cleveland's mayoral office.

His razor-thin edge of 2,501 votes—129,829 to 127,328—was in doubt almost to the end.

Grabs Lead — Taft, a grandson of a president and nephew of the late U.S. Sen. Robert A. Taft, grabbed a sizeable lead early and held it until Negro East Side votes began to come in.

Mrs. Hicks Defeated By White

BOSTON (AP) — Strong support from Negro voters helped Kevin H. White to a 12,000-vote victory Tuesday in his race against Louise Day Hicks for mayor of Boston. The results were consistent with voting in two other major-city mayoral contests, where expected white backlash votes failed to materialize. In Cleveland, Negro Carl B. Stokes defeated Seth C. Taft and in Gary, Ind., Richard G. Hatcher narrowly beat Republican Joseph B. Radigan.

While the race issue often went unspoken by either candidate during the campaign, Mrs. Hicks was known to be a vigorous opponent of busing to achieve racial balance in the city's schools.

"You know where I stand," she told the voters repeatedly. Unofficial returns from the city's 275 precincts gave White 102,551 votes to 90,122 for Mrs. Hicks.

A preliminary examination of voting patterns showed the white vote to be split about even and the Negro vote to be solidly behind White, the Massachusetts secretary of state.

30,000 Negroes — In the city's three predominantly Negro wards—9, 12 and 14—White outperformed Mrs. Hicks 15,352 to 3,214. He also ran well in other Negro areas. Unofficial estimates place the total of Negroes among the city's 286,000 registered voters at 30,000.

White said, "No man or woman is going to tear this city apart with hate or bigotry or false promises."

Although racial issues were a key factor, observers estimated that Mrs. Hicks' position was weakened in the closing days of the campaign by her promise of AMHERST — A rural Amherst couple, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Leroux, 42, was a retired Navy veteran and an employee of the Wisconsin Telephone Co., Stevens Point. His wife, Mary, 38, worked in an area restaurant.

The fire was discovered about 3 a.m. when Jeanette's pet dog awakened her by barking. Jeanette, who was sleeping in a downstairs bedroom, said she awakened her brother who was sleeping on a couch in the living room. When they were not able to get upstairs, they took a car, parked outside, to the home of a neighbor about one-half mile away, from where they called the Nelsonville Volunteer Fire Department.

When the children returned to the home, it was engulfed in flames and when the fire department arrived, shortly afterwards, there was nothing firemen could do, according to Portage Sheriff, Nick Check.

The bodies were recovered from the ruins by authorities about 10:45 a.m. today.

Carbon Monoxide Poisoning Hits Mainly in Cold Weather

BY E. H. JORRIS M.D.
State Health Officer

Carbon monoxide, the deadly, gaseous killer, strikes often but mainly during the cold weather season. Since this gas kills in a silent and painless manner, we should be on the alert for its presence. Whenever any fuel is burned in the absence of sufficient amounts of air, carbon monoxide will be present.

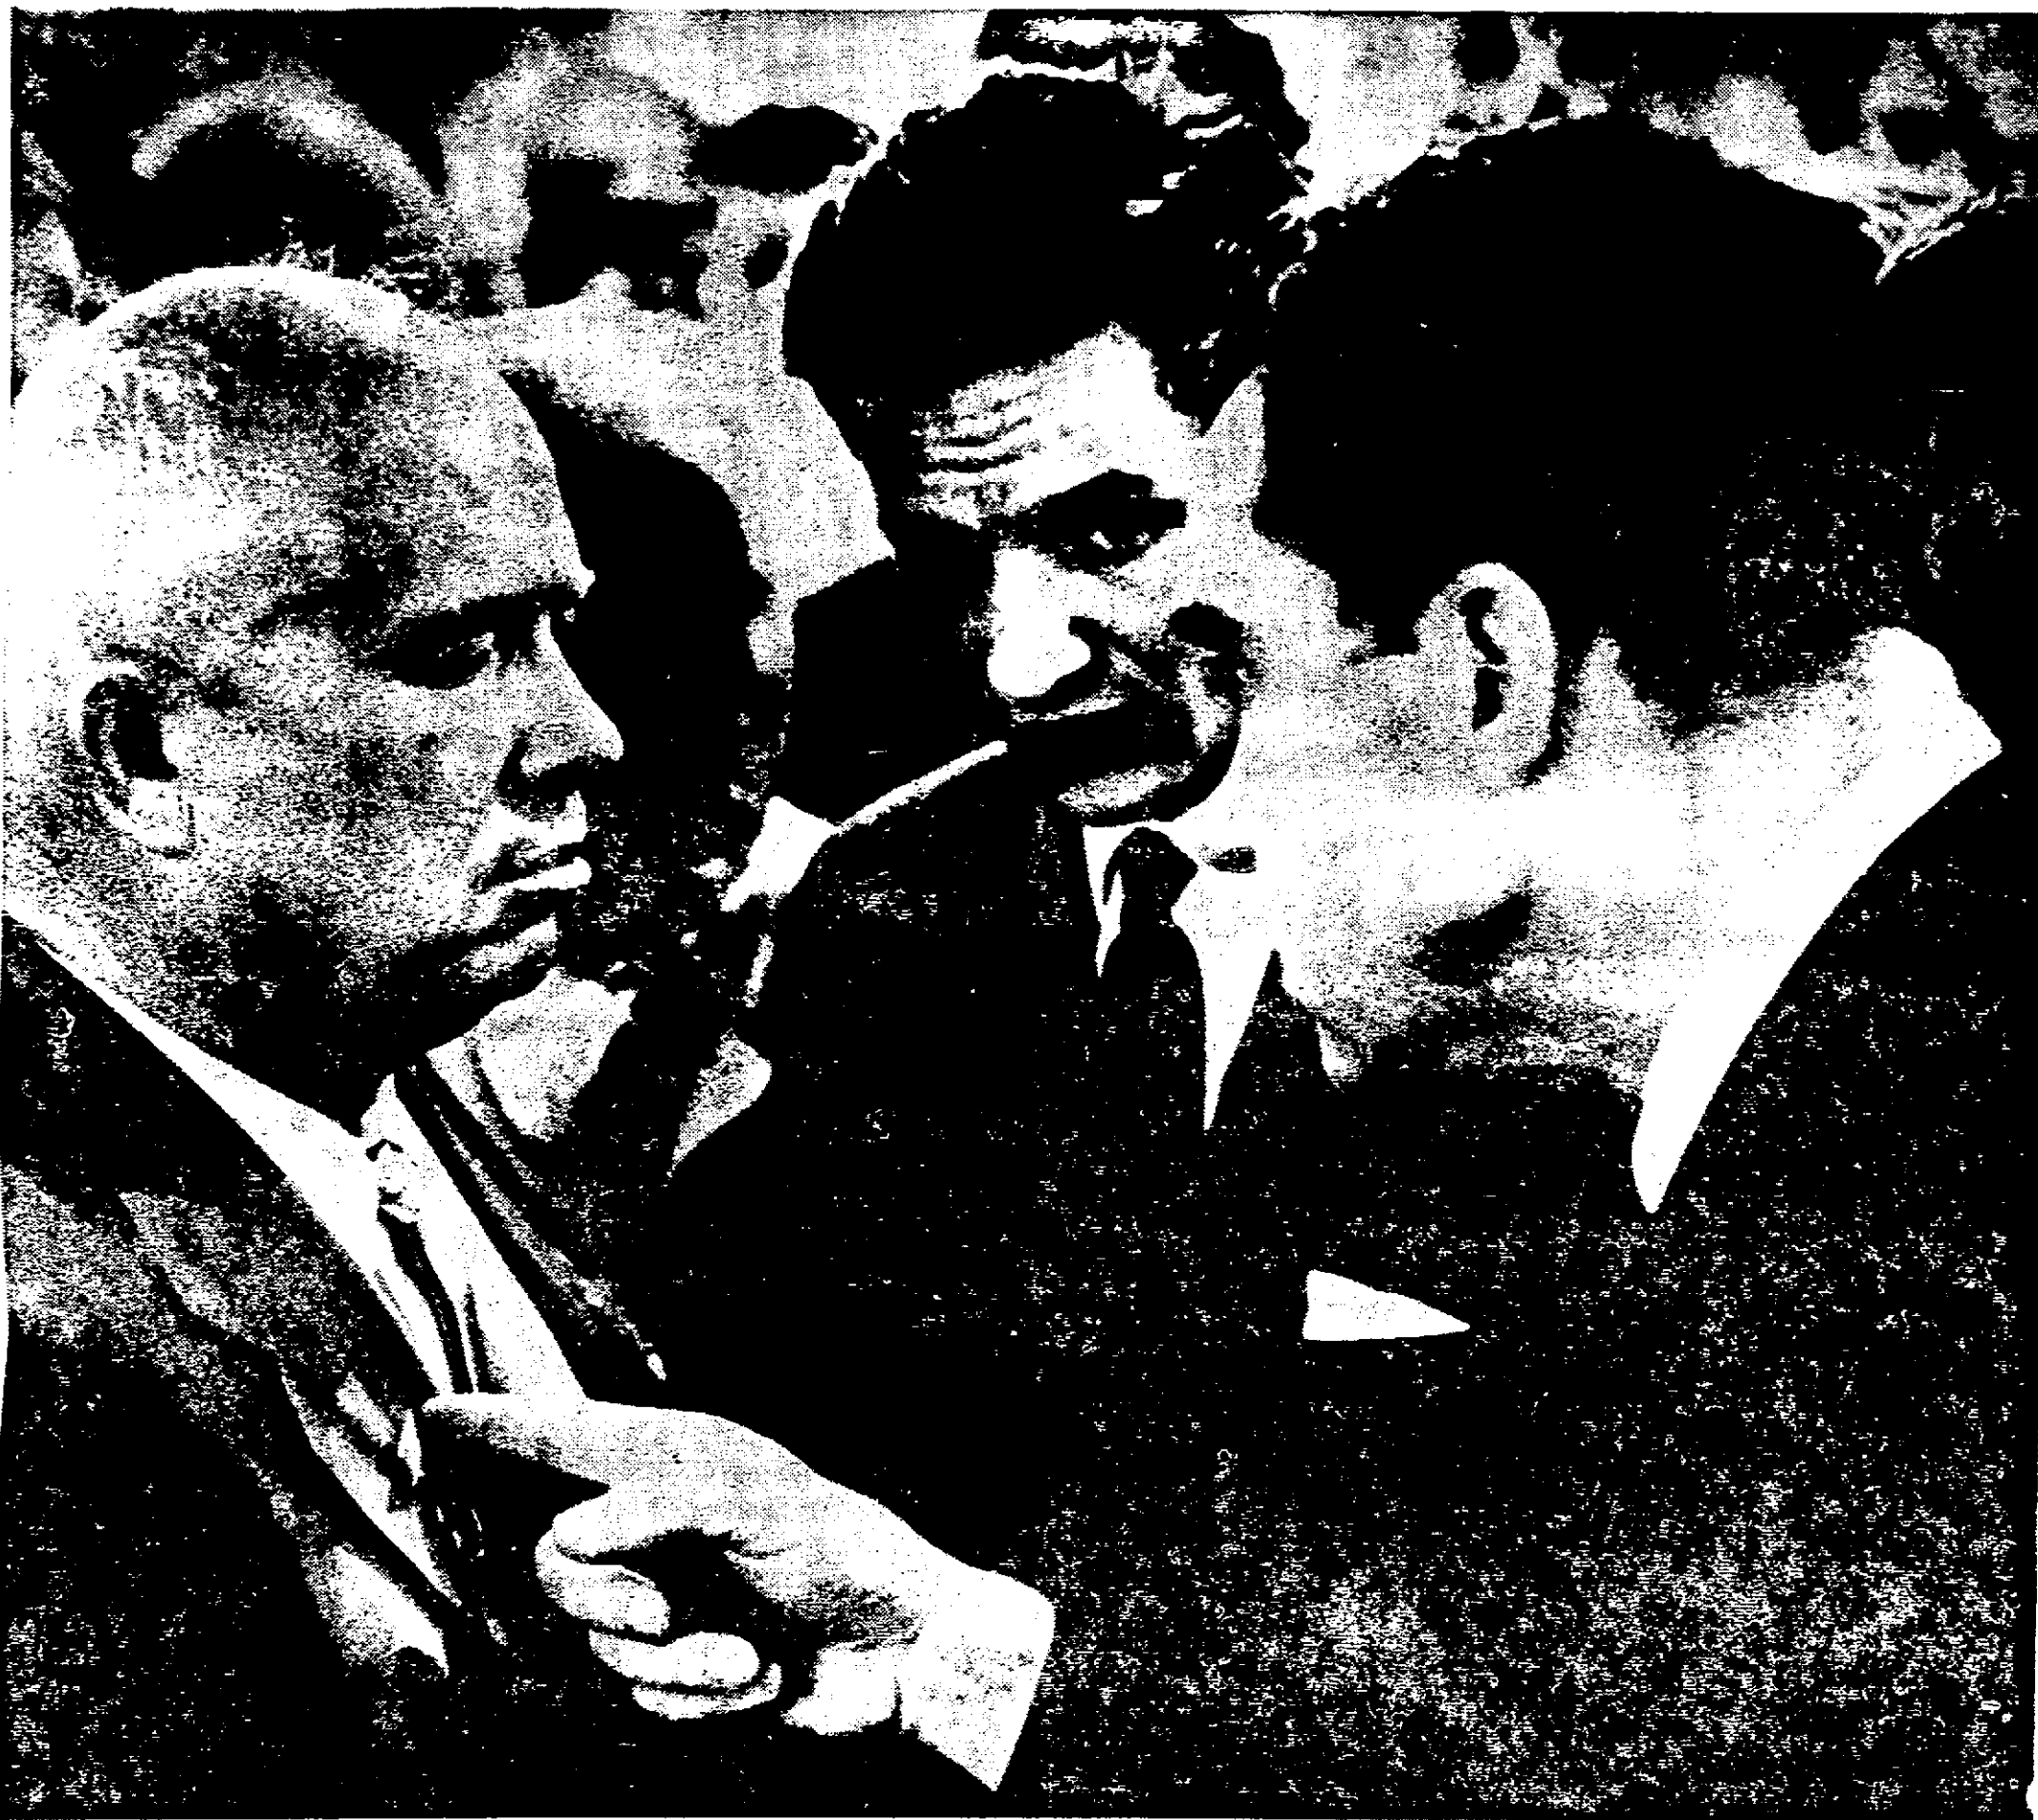

Carbon monoxide is always present in large amounts in automobile exhaust gases. It is normally present in varying amounts in fuel burning devices ranging from home furnaces to charcoal barbecue grills. Though charcoal barbecue grills, though, it is usually found in the company of other gases or compounds that can be smelled or seen. The odor of automobile open windows and doors to carbon monoxide rather than gases, irritating or smokey odors in a room where space heaters are not venting properly may have used the chimney or air to survive, the red blood cells are unable to carry the oxygen from the lungs to the tissues. The blood stream then becomes gradually saturated with carbon monoxide. The symptoms are headache usually followed by nausea. If asleep, these unnoticed symptoms may be followed by death.

Should you awaken during the night under these circumstances and realize you are in danger of being overcome, remain calm. Don't jump up and run for the outside door. Too many victims have been found on the floor inside the door.

Instead, crawl slowly across the room, open the door, and breathe the fresh air. Don't immediately rush to the other bedrooms to arouse your companions and try to drag them out. You may become a victim on this errand of mercy. Get them out after you have taken care of yourself. Too many times the would-be-rescuer is the victim and his companions lying in bed revive slowly after the opened door ventilates the cabin.

Tough guy.

Not tough-talking but tough-thinking. A very important difference. Intellectual toughness that comes from knowledge; from having seen and heard and been there.

"If we are to regain our lost leadership, there are three things we must do," Nixon has said.

"We must see the world as it is, not as it was or as we might wish it were.

"We must face facts with a new realism.

"We must speak with a new candor."

Isn't that what you want to hear from your President, for a change? You will, with Nixon, the best qualified man in America for our biggest job.

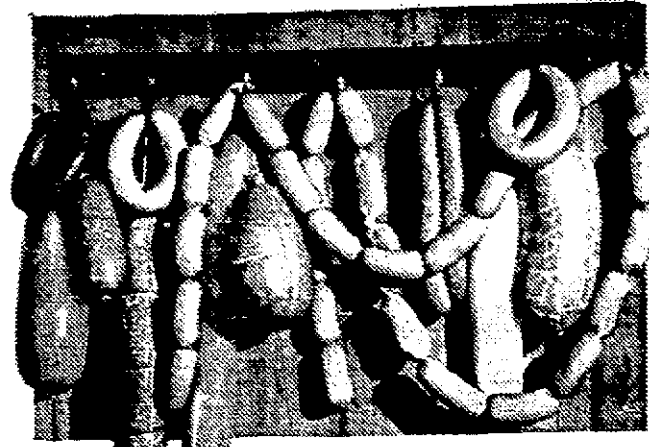

This is the man.

Purchase of Rescue Vehicle Recommended

Old Unit Damaged In October Crash; Claim Pending

Immediate purchase of a new carryall rescue squad for the Appleton Fire Department was recommended Tuesday by the City Council's public safety committee.

The department's station wagon-type rescue unit was damaged extensively in a collision last month.

The committee took its action after Fire Chief Roland Kuehl said the rescue unit damage amounted to $1,200 to $1,500.

"Whether we like it or not, the city is partially in the ambulance business and the new carryall appears to be urgently needed," commented Ald. John Ayers (12th), committee chairman and council president.

Related Developments

In related developments: —Richard J. Garvey, 206 S. Memorial Dr., driver of the other car involved in the accident the night of Oct. 29, intends to file a claim against the city.

—And the Wisconsin Physicians Service (WPS) has notified city officials all rescue and ambulance services must meet certain requirements so persons with coverage can collect on their policies.

Ambulance Standards

The WPS said any ambulance or rescue vehicle serving the public must have customary patient care equipment and operated by personnel specifically trained in ambulance service who have completed a standard and advanced Red Cross First Aid course, or have equivalent training.

Fire department personnel manning the rescue squad meet all requirements, Chief Kuehl said.

And the committee said it thought private ambulance services here did, too.

Union Hails Fox River Tractor Pact

Spokesmen for Local 1335 of the United Auto Workers (UAW) union at Fox River Tractor Co. Tuesday hailed the new two-year pact which went into effect Monday.

"It was a very good agreement," commented Joseph Wysocki on behalf of the union negotiating committee. "We feel the terms are such that we can live with it for the next two years."

About 300 production workers got wage and fringe increases under the new contract, the second between the firm and union since the UAW became bargaining agent two years ago.

On Monday a company spokesman indicated the firm was looking forward to continued good relations with the union.

However, it was incorrectly reported that a representative of the U.S. Conciliation and Mediation Service sat in on contract talks. But the mediation service was kept apprised of developments and had been prepared to render assistance if needed.

Jail Remodeling Plan Delayed

With some supervisors indicating they wanted to wait for a report from "the blue ribbon committee," the Outagamie County Board this morning once again delayed action on steps to remodel and enlarge the jail.

The decision to delay action came following an hour and a half discussion that included remarks by Raymond LeVeé, Appleton architect, and Appleton Mayor George Buckley.

LeVeé told of plans he had to more than double the jail's present capacity of 41 prisoners. He said that by spending the first six months of 1963, the county could add two wings to the fourth floor and enlarge the lockup, juvenile detention, reception center, and kitchen facilities. He said the new capacity would be 92, with provisions for many more single occupancy cells.

Vote Runway Extension

Major Airport Expansion Killed by County Board

Immediate major expansion of the Outagamie County Airport was killed by the county board Tuesday but the Airport Committee was authorized to extend the Northeast-Southwest runway to 6,500 feet at a cost of $200,000 to the county.

The proposed $1,360,000 bond issue to extend both runways, one to 7,000 feet and the other to 6,000 feet, construct parallel taxiways and a corporate apron, was soundly defeated, 37-7.

Only supervisors Patrick Mares and G. Allen Bubolz, both of Appleton, supported the members of the Airport Committee in voting for the bond remaining $540,000 on a bank opposition. The original bond proposal had been for 1.9 million to include provisions for paying off the debt remaining $540,000 on a bank

Designers of Airport Criticized by Board

Ralph Burke Associates, consulting engineering firm for the Outagamie County Airport, was ranked over the coals Wednesday afternoon by supervisors who charged they had done a poor job of cost estimating on projects at the airport.

Larry Donahue, representing the Burke firm, detailed the monies either already spent at the airport or committed in projects now under construction in comparisons to cost estimates they had prepared five years ago.

Original cost estimates for 29 projects had been $3,850,000, with spending to date amounting to $3,832,000 on 25 projects with four not undertaken. Donahue said the estimates had been low in some cases, higher in others, and changes had been made in other projects.

Hard Hit

Particularly hard hit by supervisors were underestimates of cost for the well, sanitary sewer system and hangar for the fixed base operator.

A major cost change, Donahue said, was the change in plans from grass taxiways to concrete. This was done, he said, because of the rapid growth of traffic at the field.

He said the Outagamie County Airport ranked 116th in the county obtained for a project now under construction at the airport.

This was pulled from the planned bond issue at the request of the Airport Committee because the interest being paid on the note was lower than what they expected to obtain on the bonds. The amendment to reduce the bond issue barely carried, 24-21, before the bond issue itself was defeated.

Eugene Kloes, Appleton, and Clayton Van Dyke, Kaukauna, in Still pending before the board is a resolution to authorize the Airport Committee to apply for federal aid on the projects proposed in the abortive bond issue. The resolution had been introduced but was tabled until the bond question was settled. It was not revived.

Babbitt said he was in favor of finishing the airport, but not in one or two years. "Complete the runway to 6,500 feet by borrowing from the bank," he said. He then suggested the Airport Committee apply for federal aids for 1969 and then come back in with a bond issue proposal.

Dietz said it was not the intention of the committee to do all of the work in one year. He said they planned to do only the projects on which they received federal aid. "It will be our biggest mistake if we don't apply for aid," he said, noting

Timetable for Water Project Is Discussed

Appleton Hopes to Award Contracts Over Winter Months

In an effort to get the city's water expansion project off dead center, a group of city officials met informally today at city hall and discussed a construction timetable.

Robert DeLand, Water Commission chairman, and Dr. William Gallaher, retired director and consultant, expressed concern as to when the city would orders approved for construction on the new sewage disposal plant. The program calls for constructing an addition to the present water filtration plant and transmission line to Lake Winnebago.

Need More Funds

The federal government has given the city $975,000 for the pipeline, and a request for additional funds for the plant addition is under consideration.

DeLand and Gallaher conferred with City Atty. David Geenen who indicated the matter would be discussed with Mayor George Buckley and the board of public works.

Construct in Spring

It is planned to award contracts over the winter months and begin construction in the spring.

Geenen said he was in contact with federal officials in Washington concerning the second phase of the requested grant.

It was also disclosed the consulting and engineering firms that prepared the water expansion plans have the required right-of-ways pinpointed so the city can conclude acquisitions.

Appleton Man Charged After Parked Car Crash On College Avenue

An Appleton man was charged with imprudent driving by Appleton police Sunday after the car he was driving collided with two other autos parked along College Avenue near the Division Street intersection.

Thomas H. Captain, 24, 729 W. Spencer, collided with the left side of auto owned by Eugene J. Weber, 915 Meadowview Drive, Menasha, and shoved the Weber auto into another car owned by Robert E. Lambie, route 2, Kaukauna, parked next to it.

Police said Captain's auto continued another 58 feet before coming to a stop. Total damage to all three cars was over $100.

Under Police Guard

Smith's bond was set at $2,000 while Skenandore is free on $1,000 bond.

Two brothers, ages 15 and 17, whom police allege forcibly stole a 1964 model auto from a woman in Seymour, then ran the auto into a squad car at a roadblock, remain under police guard at St. Mary Hospital, Green Bay. They were seriously injured in the accident on County Trunk H. near State 54.

Authorities allege that Smith purchased intoxicants for six minors, including three girls, ages 15 through 17. The offense allegedly occurred between Nov. 1 and Nov. 3. Two of the juveniles involved in the action are the boys who police said stole the car.

Furnished Money

Skenandore is alleged to have furnished the money for the purchase of the liquor and beer. The complaint states further that Skenandore was with the juveniles during some of the time that the intoxicants were consumed. The alleged offense was committed Friday, the day the car was stolen.

Police said the bus had already started out, heading west on Northland Avenue (County Trunk 00).

Lloyd Stead, 48, 1117 W. Grant St., died suddenly at his home about 9:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Kaukauna Offers Expressway Land

Council Sets $2,000 Per Acre Price in Proposal to County

KAUKAUNA — The common council approved a board shed, on recently acquired Chicago and North Western Railway Co. property, for use as parking area. The work is to be completed this fall, weather permitting.

The city clerk was instructed to write Badger Northland Inc., informing the firm the city has no objection to parking on the lot west end of Second Street from new center to be constructed in Outagamie County.

The board authorized Chairman Sylvester Esler, Appleton, to appoint a special committee to approach Winnebago County, which jointly operates the Fox Valley LW Center with Outagamie County, on the possibility of deeding the center over to the vocational district.

Esler said he would make the appointments as soon as possible.

Based on Need The land offer was recommended by the board's Executive Committee with the 100 acre figure based on the need expressed by the VTE 12 District board. The county farm site contains slightly more than 400 acres with about 110 acres on the west side of U.S. 41 and the balance on the east side.

Esler said the plan involving the Fox Valley Center was discussed with University of Wisconsin President Fred Harrington and the director of the university center system. He said both indicated they preferred a working arrangement with a single county rather than the present two-county operation.

Esler added they had suggested a new school in the Apple Creek area and had told the county delegation there was a good chance of the county having a four-year school within 15 years. Esler said Assemblyman David O. Martin, R-Neenah, also supported the plan.

Save Money "Either way," Esler said, "the taxpayers will save money because the district will have land donated."

Supv. Russell DeLaHunt, Kaukauna, a member of the Fox Valley Center trustees, urged talks as soon as possible with Winnebago County to avoid development of animosities between the two counties.

Final Pacts Awarded For McKinley School

Contracts totaling $288,010 for heating and ventilating, electrical work and plumbing partitions for the new McKinley School were awarded Tuesday by the Appleton Board of Education, pending approval of the city council tonight.

All other contracts for general construction, painting and decorating and plumbing and sewerage work were tabulated last Thursday.

Heating and ventilating work will be done by August Winter and Sons, Appleton, for $131,900; electrical work by Boshm Electric, Neenah, $144,700; and folding partitions, by School Equipment Consultants, Milwaukee, $12,410. The latter was the only firm to meet specifications for the partitions.

As previously announced, general construction contract went to Charles Gambsky Co., Menasha, $666,900; painting and decorating, Jochman Painting Co., Appleton, $28,850; and plumbing and sewerage, Wenzel Bros., Menasha, $91,400.

Total construction cost for the school is $1,072,150. The architect is of Schutte, Phillips and Mochon who planned Highlands School, was employed for the job and will receive a maximum of $49,761. The architect's bill for Highland was $63,897.

Contracts total about $25,000 less than the architect's original estimate and represent about $11.57 per square foot. Highland was $10.93 per square foot. These are the lowest figures since 1933, when Johnson School was constructed for $10.07.

If the contracts are approved tonight by the council, construction may begin Monday.

Appleton Man, 64, Heart Attack Victim

Roy Ventz, 64, 907 N. State St., died suddenly at his home about 9 a.m. today, apparently of a heart attack.

The Appleton Fire Department rescue squad gave the man oxygen and took him to St. Elizabeth Hospital. The coroner's office investigated. The body was taken to the Wichmann Funeral Home.

Would Give Farm or UW Center

A two-pronged proposal involving the future Vocational Technical and Adult Education District 12 (VTE 12) school was unanimously approved this morning by the Outagamie County Board.

The proposal would —Provide 100 acres of county-owned land on the old county farm site at W. Wisconsin Avenue and U.S. 41 for the vocational school or.

—Offer the existing University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center for vocational school use with a new center to be constructed in Outagamie County.

The board authorized Chairman Sylvester Esler, Appleton, to appoint a special committee to approach Winnebago County, which jointly operates the Fox Valley LW Center with Outagamie County, on the possibility of deeding the center over to the vocational district.

Esler said he would make the appointments as soon as possible.

Continue Cases Of Women Facing Forgery Charges

Two Appleton women charged with two counts of forgery each have had their cases continued since 1953, when Johnson School was constructed for $10.07.

Attorneys for Barbara Diny, 18, and Mildred Tyrell, 20, both of 231 E. South River St., asked for the continuances Tuesday afternoon, saying that they were seeking consolidation of charges from Winnebago County.

Judge Gustave J. Keller continued formal arraignment on the cases to Nov. 21 and continued bonds at $3,000 each.

Miss Diny is free on bond, while Miss Tyrell is in jail under bond. Appleton detectives allege the women forged $30 and $49 checks Oct. 30 at Kroger Stores at 27th W. College Ave. and 7th W. College Ave.

Neenah Mayor's Salary Boosted

NEENAH — Candidates for mayor next April will be vying for a $12,000 post, the council decided Tuesday evening.

As the aldermen turned to examine the mayor's operating budget, Ald. Peter Fara, finance committee chairman, pointed to the $8,400 salary presently received by Mayor Carl Loehning.

Fara noted the aldermen had previously discussed a salary of $12,000 a year or salary of $12,000 a year for the city's chief executive and felt that figure should be adopted to attract qualified men to the job.

Although there was no formal vote — or discussion — the council silently endorsed the new salary.

After the $12,000 was inserted in the budget instead of the present $8,400, Loehning, who has repeatedly stated he would not run for another term, quipped, "Maybe I'll take out my papers tomorrow."

The $12,000 figure was first discussed in February when the council decided to up the mayor's term from two to four years.

"We're trying to make the office more attractive to younger qualified people," Fara said at the time.

Since then, the aldermen had not publicly debated the proposed salary change.

The council okayed a charter ordinance on March 1 setting the mayor's term at four years. A citizen's group circulated petitions calling for a referendum on the term change and shortly after the necessary signatures were gathered another petitioning effort succeeded in forcing the city manager issue on the ballot.

Attempts to bring both questions before the electorate this fall, which would have been yesterday, were squelched by the council.

April Ballot

Thus, next April, the voters will decide whether the city's chief administrator will be an appointed manager or an elected mayor and on the same ballot will determine whether the mayor's term will be two or four years.

If the manager system receives a majority, it will be Neenah's form of government, regardless of the outcome of the two-year vs. four-year vote. And the winning candidate for the $12,000 mayor's post would never take office.

If the four-year term mayor wins and the manager form loses, the victorious mayoral candidate will receive a $12,000 salary for a two-year term. Then in 1970, the four-year term would go into effect.

Estimates for the manager's salary have centered on the $12,000 to $13,000 range.

Fremont Man Honored

Jaycees Select Young Farmer

"Wisconsin's dairy farmers must discard their apathy and make their influence felt within their dairy cooperatives to meet the challenge of the future," Kenyon Giese, last year's state winner of the Jaycees' Outstanding Young Farmer (OYF) award, said Tuesday night.

Giese was guest speaker at the Appleton Jaycees' annual OYF program. Emory Beckman, route 1, Fremont, was selected for the 1968 award. He will enter state competition at Fond du Lac Dec. 2.

Duane Wussow, route 1, Black Creek, was first runner-up and Allan Bohl, route 1, Hortonville, second runner-up. Giese emphasized that until the farmers speak with a united voice their opponents will manipulate them and the national farm program.

"The farmer needs a positive approach. For too long the farmer has been apathetic and let others do the job. We've got to do it if the family farm is to survive," he said.

Giese was scornful of infighting between dairy cooperatives in the state and called for a united front on common marketing of milk. He pointed to Michigan where, through efforts of Glen Lake, manager of the Michigan Milk Producers Association, farmers are getting almost $1 more per hundredweight for their milk than Wisconsin farmers because the state is organized.

Giese felt the farmers had little to be concerned about because of chain stores starting vertical integration in the market.

"If we can have strong service and marketing cooperatives to work with we can hold our own," he asserted.

"Public relations in agriculture have been bad," he said.

"Many think of us as a leech on the government to prop up the farm economy. We must establish agriculture on an equal footing with the rest of the economy."

Form Resource Pool

Giese took note that there are few young farmers on the boards of directors of cooperatives. (Giese is 17 years younger than the next youngest director on the Wisconsin

Finance Unit Asks Defeat Of School Aid

MADISON (AP)—The legislature's Joint Finance Committee voted 8-6 Tuesday to recommend defeat of Gov. Warren P. Knowles' $14.9 million emergency aid-to-education program.

A spokesman for the Republican governor said the negative vote by the committee "indicates Milwaukee Democrats better generate support" for the proposal if they want Milwaukee to receive additional school funds.

The governor's plan calls for shifting unneeded funds to schools aid.

About $7.8 million of the total would be pumped into Milwaukee schools whose teachers have been begging for increased aid to fight conditions in the city's predominantly Negro inner core.

Menasha School Plans Aired in Secret Session

MENASHA — In a secret Butte des Morts Junior High meeting of the Menasha board school, remodel and enlarge of education and its planning Menasha High School, build a committee Oct. 23, a report second junior high school, or showed that time is growing shift from the present 6-3-3 short if the threatened over-program at the secondary level crowding of the junior and to a four year high school and senior high schools are to be two year "middle" or junior high school plan.

The critical year at Butte des Morts will be 1969, the report said, and the deadline date for the Menasha High School project is 1971.

Both Overcrowded

Both schools are overcrowded, according to the report, with the junior high school enrollment at 160 students this year, in a school building to accommodate 665 students.

Menasha High School has a capacity of 849 students and the present enrollment is 691.

County Board Rejects Plan To Cut Budget

Taxpayer Group Asked Reduction Of $204,000

Taxpayer Association recommendations for reducing the proposed 1968 Outagamie County budget by $204,000 were rejected Tuesday by the County Board's Finance Committee.

The association had recommended cutting two highway projects, increasing revenue estimates from shared income and utility taxes and increasing revenue estimates at Riverview Sanitarium and the Golden Age home.

The committee rejected the proposed revenue increases from shared taxes on the grounds it would leave the county in financial trouble if the added revenue failed to materialize. They indicated they had already increased revenue estimates at Riverview and the Golden Age home and that further increases would defeat the purpose of the programs.

Rejection of the proposal to cut the two highway projects was done on the basis that both projects had been started last year and should be finished.

With enough time allotted to help individuals grow and learn. One students if they are to truly meet the demands of change and improve the process of learning.

Copps Opens Food Store With Shopko

MENASHA — A new Copps Discount Food Center opened today in the Town of Menasha. Located on Highway 47 between Menasha and Appleton, it occupies 22,400 square feet in the new building jointly occupied with the Shopko Discount Center.

Similar food centers are operated by the Copps Corporation in LaCrosse, Manitowish, Madison, Oshkosh and Stevens Point, its headquarters city.

General manager of the store is Jack Tratz, assisted by John Fierstein. Wayne Kupsch directs the meat department and James Olsen, the produce department.

In addition to the full-service food center, the store features a snack bar and an on-the-premises bakery.

Donald W. Copps, executive of the firm said, "The Neenah-Menasha area is an obviously growing market. We are highly confident of its potential. Our philosophy of eliminating stamps, games and costly gimmicks in favor of lowest possible prices for high quality foods has proved popular. We are pleased to bring it here and to be a part of this outstanding community."

The company also operates eleven other food markets throughout Wisconsin. An affiliate, Copps Distributing Company, serves 60 IGA food stores in the central and northern parts of the state.

Yes Vote on COG Study Okayed by Menasha Council

MENASHA — Mayor Kenneth Holmes said he would vote "yes" today when the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) decides whether to include a regional sewer, water and refuse system study in its 1968 budget.

The mayor was instrumental in putting off the COG vote more than a month ago to allow time for him and other chief elected officials of local governments to discuss the proposed survey with their hometown boards and councils. Tuesday night, the Menasha Common Council gave Holmes an unanimous mandate to vote in favor of the survey, while promising to pay the city's $2,025 share of the cost.

Unanimous Vote

The vote came after Ald. Ernest Koerner, council finance chairman and one of the chief questioners of the COG proposal, said he had discussed it with various authorities and was now satisfied that the city should participate.

Ald. William Erickson and Robert Probst teamed to bring the question to the roll call vote. The nine aldermen present all voted "aye."

The council voted once before on the measure, acting to put off a final vote until after aldermen had time for more study. By Monday night, most members of the council said they were ready to vote.

Koerner told the council Tuesday night that he was satisfied the project was worthwhile. He explained this morning that when the proposal was first brought to the council's attention, several persons asked him if it was necessary. His decision came after he had questioned several water & light utility and sewerage commissioners who spoke in favor of it. Koerner said.

Without the study, communities in the COG region would be ineligible for federal aid for future construction of sewer, water and waste disposal systems or improvements.

James Island Survey Okayed

Proof of Existence Needed Before Land Is Ceded to Menasha

MENASHA — A surveyor is to be handed the job of proving the existence of James Island so the federal government can give it to the city.

The common council voted to hire the surveyor Tuesday night after aldermen were told that the data he will produce is apparently all that is needed for the city to receive the island "as a gift."

Some aldermen suggested that the city might have automatically achieved some sort of "squatters rights" over the years, and might be able to claim the island without going through the surveying procedure. City Atty. Richard Steffens, however, said it was doubtful the city had ever assumed a position as a "squatter", although the island appears on city maps.

He explained that the island fails to appear on the state's official map of this area, and the federal government has the power to give it to the city. U.S. Sen. Gaylord Nelson recently said the city could have the island in return for the survey data.

Town Sanitary Hearing Tonight

MENASHA — An informal public hearing to determine the interest and need for water and sewer facilities in parts of the west side of the Town of Menasha will be held at Spring Road School at 7:30 p.m. today.

Letters Don't Say What LBJ Hoped

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's request that people write their congressmen about his proposed tax hike is bringing results—but not exactly those Johnson hoped for, an Associated Press survey indicates.

Only a few congressmen queried said they had received letters from constituents asking for the tax boost. Most said the President's appeal for public support last week resulted in a flood of mail opposing the proposal.

Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., a House Ways and Means Committee member who has backed the tax hike measure, reported receiving a letter from home saying: "I hear the President just wants us to write you to ask for a tax increase. I am asking you to vote against a tax increase."

In the same vein was a letter to Democratic Rep. Richard L. Ottinger, whose district encompasses New York's wealthy Westchester County. The woman correspondent said her letter was prompted by Johnson's appeal, but added, "I don't want any higher taxes."

There were some scattered exceptions to the trend, however.

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., received this message from a West Orange constituent: "While I am not in sympathy with everything which has been emanating from the White House, I do believe that the best interests of the country will be served by the enactment of surtax of incomes."

Johnson's proposed 10 percent surcharge on income taxes also drew backing from a rural Illinois man, who wrote his congressman: "I never thought I would write you asking that you raise my taxes but I'm doing just that. My fear of inflation with the erosion of purchasing power is greater than my fear of the surtax proposed by the President."

But by far most letters they've received oppose any tax hike, congressmen said. Ottinger put the mail count at 99 to 1 against and Rep. Peter H. B. Freylinghuysen, R-N.J., said his count is 98 to 2 against.

American Education Week--IV Despite Breakdown in Patterns, Change in Education Is Necessary

BY JAMES WESTPHAL

We have always lived in a world of change. Man's input into his society is in fact geared to improvement and thus to change. Perhaps the concept of change has never been so emphasized as it is today. When analyzed, it is probably not so much the fact of change as it is the rapidity with which changes are being made that currently influences our thinking.

Schools also are deeply affected by change. There was a time when a certain body of knowledge was available and could be learned or committed to memory. The "educated man" could take, nor stagnation for security's sake. Rather, they are structuring an educational program and process that is pertinent and current. A program and process that provides for its own continuous evaluation and renewal.

Change in education has taken a great many forms. A few of the more basic, underlying changes may be seen in the reorganization of students and pupils; the changes in curriculum and the changes in the physical structure of the schools. Within these broad areas, changes too numerous to mention continue to take place as education seeks to improve itself.

Improve Process

Your schools today use many changing patterns of organization to improve the educational process. Arbitrary achievement levels which formerly frustrated or hindered the majority of children in graded situations are being abandoned. Teachers are sharing their knowledge and skills in teams. The pupil has become an involved, thinking member of the class. He is encouraged and helped to find his optimum level of success and achievement. Such vital concerns as the students' self-image, self-discipline and his ability to handle responsibility are being considered, rather than merely esteeming his ability to parrot back rote facts.

School buildings reflect the challenge of change. Flexible room environments that invite inquiry are replacing four-walled cubicles. Multi-media resource rooms which can accommodate individual interests as well as come a lifelong process and electronic teaching aids are becoming a reality in our schools. Building design reflects the school's philosophy and its curriculum. Movable walls and furniture invite the student to become an active learner rather than a passive absorber.

Locally, our schools have been pace-setters for years with a non-graded program known as the CONTINUOUS PROGRESS PROGRAM. More recently Huntley School, pioneered multi-age classes and Appleton was one of the first cities in the nation to expand this organization into the Intermediate level.

Setting Pattern

Our method of reporting progress to parents has been copied nationwide. Each year hundreds of visitors seek out our schools and adopt our methods as the pattern they wish to follow in their own schools. Appleton High School-East and Highland School are two recent examples of flexible building design to further accommodate and improve good education. Multiple texts, concept designs in curriculum areas and cooperative team teaching are just a few more ways in which education in Appleton is responding to the challenge of change. Each of these innovations is constantly

Bonding Halted For Expansion At Airport

Dec. 8 is the deadline for 1968 aid applications.

Gillespie commented, "For a while I was not sure I wanted to be on the committee, but my heart is in the airport." He said he had understood the board wanted to end piecemeal financing.

Supv. Russell DeLaHunt, Kaukauna, who, after voting against the bond issue, said, "I believe the airport will succeed in spite of ourselves."

Supv. Clarence Miller, Appleton, questioned the value of seeking federal aid and then wanted to know where the spending was going to end.

"When we started the airport we said we would do it alone. Now we want federal and state aid. It costs us $3 to get $1 so we are not ahead," Miller said. After looking at a financial report on what has been spent thus far at the airport, Miller said the proposed bond issue would raise the total to $5.2 million. "Where will it stop. At $10 million?" he asked.

After opposition to the bond issue mounted, Kostka, chairman of the Airport Committee, said they would be willing to drop plans for the taxiways and the extra 500 feet to make the Northeast-Southwest runway 7,000 feet. This would have reduced the bond issue by another $632,000 and left in the extensions to 6,000 feet for one runway and 6,500 for the other.

There was no indication of any acceptance of his offer.

Supv. Eugene Kloes, Appleton, who had suggested the Airport Committee develop detailed project plans before asking for any more money from the board, jokingly said he regretted bringing it up. After looking at the plans, Kloes said, "now they know what they want."

tween the two counties on the proposal.

He said there now is some objections to location of the vocational school in the Fox Valley Center area because there is no bridge across Little Lake Butte des Morts and the question has arisen as to whether Outagamie County would contribute toward the cost of a bridge.

Urges Speed

DeLaHunt also urged speed in reaching a decision because of the timetable set up for the new vocational school. He said if the Fox Valley Center proposal was accepted, a new center would have to be built by 1970 to permit the vocational district to move in by that time.

The resolution offering the 100 acres of land at the county farm provides that if the vocational district does not use the land for vocational school purposes within "a reasonable time" the land will revert back to the county.

Support for the county farm proposal was given by the Seymour Jaycees who sent a letter to the county board supporting the offer.

Furnace Floods Causes Blaze In Air Ducts

Appleton firemen were summoned to the Harry Hatmaker home, 925 W. Grant St., about 6 p.m. Tuesday when a flooded furnace caused a fire that got into the air ducts.

Firemen, who were at first told there was a chimney fire at the home, found that the furnace had flooded with fuel oil which county might well consider a joint safety building.

Although Buckley said there are no plans for the sale of the police station, he said there has been discussion on the subject. Buckley said the matter would be "resolved" within a year.

In reply to a question from Supv. Charles Wussow of Appleton, Buckley said there was "talk" about a year ago on the possibility of purchasing the courthouse for a city hall building. However, Buckley said it was determined such a move would not be feasible.

Wussow said he would like to see the city and county officials meet to explore the construction of a city-county building.

Kloes told the board he had "heard rumor" the city was thinking of "making overtures" to rent the courthouse annex for police operations. Several city officials on the board voiced denial.

Valley Area Officials Will Question VTE-12 Budget

Meet Thursday With Vocational Board at Menasha Town Hall

An effort will be made Thursday night by a six-man delegation of city, village and town officials from a four-county area to have the area vocational board reconsider its proposed 1968 budget.

The municipal officials will meet with members of the Vocational, Technical and Adult Education District 12 Board (VTE-12) at the Town of Menasha municipal building at 7:30 p.m.

The VTE operating budget calling for a levy of $1,989.875 and a sharp boost in vocational taxes throughout the district has elected officials up in arms.

Capitol Outlay

Reportedly included in the budget is about $600,000 for capital outlay, such as land acquisition and planning for a new regional vocational school.

At a recent meeting in Appleton, about 50 representatives of 27 municipalities in Outagamie, Waupaca, Winnebago and Calumet counties threatened to instruct clerks to withhold tax payments unless a compromise could be reached with the VTE Board to bond for some items in its operational budget. The special committee was selected to meet with the board.

Robert Jacobs, clerk of the Town of Menasha and chairman of the officials' group, announced today that the VTE Board has agreed to the meeting tomorrow night.

Other members of the committee, explained that the federal aid is being applied against construction projects the county could not find out eligible there and the funds remaining would be for land acquisition, then be applied toward land acquisition. This was being done, he said, because it was possible to get retroactive aid on land was blinded by the sun and did not see the McMillan auto.

Appleton police said she was in a car driven by Ruth M. Wilch, same address, who was making a right turn onto Emmers Drive when her car struck the rear of a car driven by John B. McMillan, 69, 1009 N. Union St., which was stopped for a stop sign.

The woman told police she was blinded by the sun and did not see the McMillan auto.

board's fiscal philosophy, the group headed by Jacobs will question the proposed VTE program.

Authority to Bond

Officials claimed they received information that high school dropouts would not be permitted to attend the new regional vocational school and that only those with diplomas would be eligible.

The VTE Board's Appleton assessment for 1968 was $376,478 compared to $28,000 for the current year's levy, set prior to the vocational district organization.

Under a law passed by the state legislature, the VTE Board has its own taxing powers not to exceed 2 mills of the full equalized valuation of all communities in the district.

However, the VTE Board also has authority to bond if it so desires. It is to this point the municipal officials' group will address the board, according to Jacobs.

Menopause Not Tied to Yellow Perspiration

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My bed linen and underclothes are stained with my perspiration which seems to be a dark yellow. Could this be caused from hot flashes? I am 52 and menopause started some time ago. —R U

Except that the hot flashes cause profuse perspiration, there is no reason to think this condition has anything to do with menopause.

Colored sweat is not a common condition. Production of yellow perspiration is very rare (the condition is called chromidrosis). There are specialized sweat glands, as in the armpits and elsewhere, which may produce a yellowish or dark colored material. The exact cause of the yellowness is not known. It may be the result of bacterial action on the skin. It is possible also that certain medications may be a factor — have you reported this to your doctor, and are you taking any medications that he cause other illnesses? — E B B

Still, the more likely explanation is something on the surface of the skin which alters the color chemically. It is possible that some deodorant is involved, or even dye in your clothing.

There is, you see, no simple answer, but there are some possibilities which you can pursue. Dear Dr. Molner: What is chronic cholecystitis and what causes it? Is it curable? How does it eventually cause other illnesses? — E B B

Chronic cholecystitis is chronic inflammation of the gall bladder. Causes? Several. We think of troubles sometimes liver disturbances, and sometimes the continued irritation precedes cancer. So there is good reason for not taking chances.

Those are brief answers to your questions. For the full story, read my booklet, "Your Gall Bladder." Send 25 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Molner, in care of this newspaper, for a copy of it. Under- standing the nature of gall bladder disease can save you from a great deal of discomfort and sometimes extreme pain.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a friend whose rather quiet 5-year old boy awakens at night and cries for half an hour or so as growing pains.

Much heart trouble is present more recently, his right elbow

When the child was taken to a care of the Post-Crescent for doctor, the diagnosis was "growing pains." I thought "growing pains" went out with "marking" sulphur and molasses, and the stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling. (Copyright, 1967)

Kentucky Elects First Republican in 24 Years

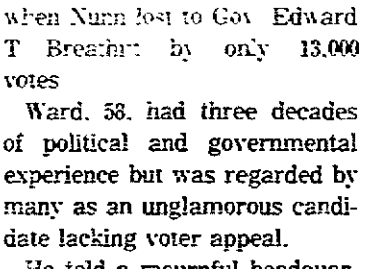

Antiwar Candidate Gets Nod; Mississippi Picks Democrat

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Kentucky elected its first Republican governor in 24 years and a rousing rebel Democratic congressman won Mississippi's governorship in general elections Tuesday.

The mild upset victory of Kentucky country lawyer Louis B. Nunn did not provide a firm clue on whether his denunciation of President Johnson's policies was a major factor. Democrats retained the Kentucky lieutenant governorship and control of the legislature.

Nunn

Mississippi's Gov.-Elect John Bell Williams, 49, who was purged of his 20-year seniority in the House of Representatives for supporting Barry Goldwater in the 1964 presidential campaign, acknowledged his landslide victory over Republican Rubel Phillips by issuing a call for peace and harmony.

With 1,785 of the state's 2,115 precincts reporting, Williams had 263,613 votes to 113,375 for Phillips.

President Watching
Nunn said, "Perhaps it's a victory for the people of America because I'm sure they're taking note tonight at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue."

Nunn defeated Democrat Henry Ward, a former highway commissioner supported by the state regime, by about 21,000 votes in a moderate turnout.

With 2,927 of 3,031 precincts reporting, Nunn had 429,931 and Ward 408,403.

The victory was a comeback from a previous defeat in 1963 when Nunn lost to Gov. Edward T. Breathitt by only 13,000 votes.

Ward, 58, had three decades of political and governmental experience but was regarded by many as an unglamorous candidate lacking voter appeal.

He told a mournful headquarters gathering he was proud of his "completely responsible" campaign and would not concede until the votes are tallied officially.

Nunn's basic theme was that it was time for a change at the state capitol at Frankfort and an opportunity to show the President that Kentuckians oppose national and Vietnam policies.

Conservative Victory
Williams, who will succeed Gov. Paul Johnson in January, attributed his victory to the conservatives of traditionally Democratic Mississippi uniting behind him. He said he would re-enter the hospital here today for treatment of a leg condition, the result of a World War II plane crash, and decide later when to hold his first news conference.

Both candidates billed themselves as conservatives and segregationists, but Phillips proposed that whites and Negroes work together to raise Mississippi from the bottom of the nation's economic ladder. In an election eve television appearance, Williams made his only mention of this, accusing Phillips of raising the race issue.

Williams did little campaigning after the Democratic primary and spent much of his time in Washington, reminding the voters he had been a martyr for states rights when he lost his seniority, and in a hospital for treatment of his leg, a reminder of his war service.

Voters in predominantly Negro Holmes County apparently named the first Negro to the legislature since the Reconstruction era. Robert Clark, an independent running with the backing of the Negro-dominated Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party, defeated Rep. J. P. Love, 65, on the basis of unofficial returns. Love has served in the House since 1955.

The number of Negro office holders in the state rose to 24 with the election of six others, two each winning posts as county supervisors, constables and justices of the peace.

Ethel Glen "Hop" Barnett, who received a mistrial last month in the trial of 18 men charged with conspiracy in the deaths of three civil rights workers at Philadelphia, Miss., in 1964, was elected sheriff of Neshoba County.

Powerful North Vietnamese Force Fought in Highlands

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. infantrymen battled Communist troops again tonight in the Dak To sector of the central highlands, where Americans have lately clashed repeatedly with strong and aggressive North Vietnamese forces.

Sketchy field reports said two companies of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division came under a heavy ground assault as they were moving into night defensive positions southwest of Dak To, which is 270 miles north of Saigon. Enemy mortars shelled a battalion artillery base.

Officers said they had no word about casualties, but the fighting was still going on several hours after dark.

Planes Lost
A fierce Marine battle with North Vietnamese troops and Communist attacks on provincial capitals and refugee hamlets marked the ground war elsewhere while spokesmen reported on heavy air strikes against North Vietnam that cost three American planes.

U.S. Marines charged through a screen of American tear gas to take a heavily fortified village which the North Vietnamese abandoned Tuesday after nearly 24 hours of hard fighting and bombardment in the coastal lowlands 27 miles south of Da Nang.

The Marines reported 22 of their men killed and 58 wounded, most of them in a savage machine-gun crossfire from the enemy. The Leathernecks said what progress was being made in efforts to head off a possible second nationwide strike in the auto industry this year. Ford is just getting back into production after a strike that lasted over two months.

Delta Fighting
In the Mekong Delta, the Viet Cong launched a series of mortar and ground assaults at dusk Monday so they could retrieve their dead and wounded before dawn on an airfield. There was sporadic fighting throughout the night, and the provincial capital of village was pounded with artillery, bombs and napalm.

McCarthy Probing Democrats' Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., candidate he might also be expected to take soundings in four key states this weekend to plumb Democratic Party opinion on Vietnam policies.

In connection with scheduled speeches in St. Paul, Minn., on Thursday, Ann Arbor, Mich., on Friday, Boston on Saturday and Chicago on Sunday, McCarthy said he plans talks with party leaders to learn the extent of anti-Johnson sentiment in their areas.

McCarthy, who has said he believes there is widespread Democratic discontent with Johnson's war policies, indicates his findings on the weekend tour may help him decide whether to oppose the President in some 1968 presidential primaries.

And he predicted Democrats who aren't contributing to the regular party organization because they oppose Johnson's Vietnam policies could be expected to chip in. He noted the regular party organization in California is being cramped for funds in this connection.

Question of Issues
The Minnesota senator, whose name was one Johnson mentioned in 1964 to conceal for a time his choice of Hubert H. Humphrey as his vice presidential running mate, denied in an interview Tuesday that he and the President have reached a political parting of the ways.

You don't reach a point of no return in politics," McCarthy said.

"The question here is not one of personalities but of issues. It is better to have the party openly divided on such issues as Vietnam than to try to cover up the division by a false front of unity."

He said Johnson's attacks on his Democratic war critics have not contributed to party discussion of the issues.

"The President has had experience in handling cattle," he said.

You start them slowly and then stampede them. He doesn't understand that that same psychology can't be applied to people."

Possible Candidate
McCarthy said if he reads the signs as favorable he might enter four or five primaries as South Vietnamese special forces. There was sporadic fighting throughout the night, and the provincial capital of village was pounded with artillery, bombs and napalm.

Adult Classes at Appleton Vocational

Adult high school credit program classes are again offered this year by the Appleton Vocational School. George Kettleson, coordinator, has announced. The program is designed to give adults who never finished high school an opportunity to work toward a high school diploma, which is granted after the completion of the required courses by a local high school chosen by the student.

Present enrollment has climbed to 132, as compared to 101 in the 1966-67 school year. Last school year 12 people received their diplomas from surrounding high schools.

Classes Meet

The students must be at least 20 years of age and must have graduated from the eighth grade. They can earn at least two credits a year toward their diploma by going to school four nights a week. Classes presently meet at Appleton High School-East and are taught by certified high school teachers.

In addition to the core curriculum offered in the adult credit program, which includes nine courses this year, the student may elect to take classes from the other divisions of the vocational technical evening program. Business education, trades and industry education and homemaking are offered as electives.

Enrollment Reasons

According to Kettleson, students enroll in the program for various reasons. Some want to work their way out of a dead-end job, some come at the urging of their employer, some to make up inadequacies in a high school program which prevents them from entering post-high school training institutions in Wisconsin.

The age range of students

Only 365 Complete Job Corps Training

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Just over 16 per cent of the disadvantaged youths level of $332,000.

reporting to the Camp McCoy Job Corps center at Camp McCoy near Sparta have been organized, a total of 365 graduates.

McNeil has reported to his board of regents.

Total cost of the program which has graduated 365 of the 3,196 Job Corpsmen who have entered the camp, McNeil said. Of those 3,196 Corpsmen, 1,017 now are in the camp.

Bulk of the UW related costs have been borne by the federal government — have been due to now enrolled in the camp, down the original capital equipment considerably from peak loads costs of starting the program at which reached 1,600 trainees the camp and to the early high McNeil said that the aim of the costs of technical education new method of UW association programs which are designed to is to increase retention rates in run for years.

$11,619,000 Spent

The UW ran the program on a subcontract from the Radio high . . . and I hope that we can learn how to do things better so between March, 1966, and September, 1967. Since then the UW high in the future," McNeil said, has been involved only in the planning of educational program; development and in staff training in the center are not like those found in regular schools throughout the nation. Costs are bound to be from about 90 employees to 3, higher because of the special forms and nature of the education offered.

"You just are not dealing with the average student body," he said.

McNeil agreed with comments of Regent Charles Gelatt of La Crosse that the federal program aimed at quick filling of the camps rather than selective screening of candidates in the early months of the program.

"There was pressure to get kids into the camps. I think they took anyone who came along."

115 From Wisconsin

The high drop out rate can be in part attributed to this factor, he suggested.

There have been 1,350 resignations for reasons ranging from the cold climate to a general distaste for the programs.

Disciplinary problems have dropped 373 Corpsmen, and 165 have been dismissed for being away from the camp without leave.

Another 80 have transferred to other program centers, and two have been killed while in training.

Medical discharges have been granted 13 of the trainees, and eight have been dropped for administrative reasons.

Of the 3,196 Job Corpsmen sent to the Camp McCoy center, only 115, or 3.6 per cent, have been from Wisconsin.

Denying Scandal Hurt Gov. Reagan's Chances

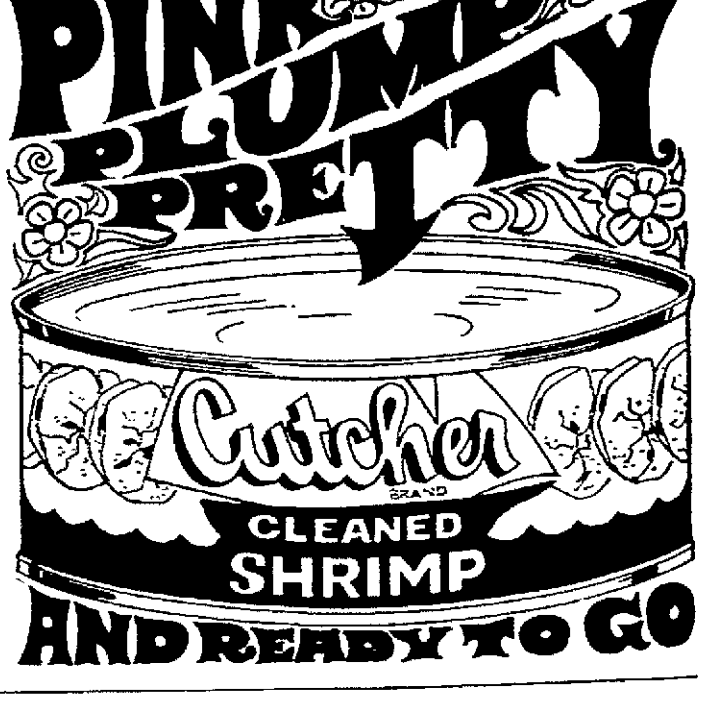

Full Extent Not Ascertained; Man on Street May See It as Political Plot

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — To Republicans in California, the rise of Governor Ronald Reagan at his rise to presidential contention, now he has erred by telling the truth. On Oct. 31 committed the first serious error of his political career with potentially deep national implications.

One such California Republican, fully informed earlier by the governor's aides of a homosexual problem in Sacramento, was shocked to hear Reagan from his denials. Turning to a companion watchman, the press conference with truth, him over television, this politician snapped: "Mr. Integrity," just went down the drain. His appraisal may be premature.

After investigation by private high aides in Sacramento to be detectives indicated homosexual activity by several persons in accumulated by the private Sacramento (some on, some off the governor's staff but no some declined). The result was elected officials), efforts were still further spreading of rumors. Worse yet, Reagan's aides decided among themselves — without informing Reagan — to put out the story to any reporters who happened to ask why certain Reagan staff members really resigned. That is precisely what happened at the national governors' conference aboard the liner Independence the week of Oct. 16.

A cryptic paragraph in the "Periscope" section of Newsweek, appearing on Oct. 23, asserted "a top GOP presidential prospect has a potentially as sordid scandal on his hands." In a report on Oct. 31, syndicated columnist Drew Pearson named Reagan and explicitly identified the principals involved without giving their names — a report printed by few newspapers because of libel considerations. It was in reaction to Pearson's report that Reagan committed his biggest error. Asserting that Pearson was lying, the governor flatly denied the whole affair. Experienced politicians believed he should have attacked Pearson for lack of taste and decency, admit there had been an investigation, and then decline further comment.

Ways You Can Retain Investment Position

BY SYLVIA PORTER
(in collaboration with the Research Institute of America)

While you may find it sound tax strategy to take paper losses on your securities to cut your and still keep you in a position to benefit from a future market rise.

You can't achieve this just by having your broker sell your stock at a loss and immediately repurchase the identical shares. Unless there is more than a 30 day interval between your purchase and sale, your sale will be considered a "wash" sale and you won't be able to deduct the loss. Nor can you achieve this by having your wife repurchase the stock. Your sale would remain a wash sale if the repurchase took place within 30 days.

Try Another Company

But there are three ways in which you can create your loss deduction and still retain your investment position.

1. You can sell the securities on which you have a loss and has in fact rallied, you have simultaneously purchase shares made a profit.

in a similar company in the (3) If you feel your stock is same industry. The sale gives likely to decline in the next 31 you your capital loss. But since days, sell your 100 shares now equivalent stocks of the same and take your capital loss. After industry generally will fluctuate 30 days, buy another 100 shares together, you will be in a of Telephone. If your judgement position to gain with your is right, you will be buying back substitute shares.

(2) If you feel your stock is likely to rise in the next 31 days and thus you don't want to lose wisely used method to achieve your position in the initial taking a loss and yet keeping the company, double up your investment—same stock. This was to buy an ment in the loss stock. Say your extra 100 shares and immediate-loss stock is 100 shares of ly sell the identical 100 shares American Telephone. Buy an "short." After 30 days you additional 100 shares. More than delivered your original 100 30 days later, sell the first 100 shares to cover the short sale shares and take your capital The result was a loss on the old loss. You still have 100 shares of shares while leaving you at all would give you a long-term Telephone. If Telephone stock times with the same 100-share capital gain.

position. This protected you from being whip-sawed by price fluctuations during the 30-day period. But this year, the Treasury specifically banned the use of this method by changing its regulations.

Here are two other important pointers in connection with your year-end securities transactions:

If you are realizing capital gains, be sure to heed the six-month deadline. If you don't hold your securities for more than six months, your gain will be fully taxable ordinary income. By waiting until just beyond the six-month deadline, you can cut your tax at least in half. To be eligible for the lower tax rate, you must hold your stock a day beyond six months. Thus, if you bought stock on May 9 and you sell it at a profit on Nov. 9, 1967, you have a fully taxable short-term capital gain. A sale one day later, Nov. 10, would give you a long-term capital gain.

If you have a paper profit which you want to take in 1967 but on which you want to postpone paying tax until 1968, you can accomplish this by a short sale. Have your broker sell an identical block of the shares you own "short." This freezes your profit on your shares. But your gain won't be taxable until you cover the short sale by delivery of your shares and you can defer the covering until 1968. (All Rights Reserved)

Cannon Disappears From Front Porch

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Ben Gadsby is offering a $50 reward for the return of the bronze cannon that was taken from his front porch.

Gadsby says the 36-inch cannon has sentimental family value. His father, Capt. William B. Gadsby, brought it home from the Philippines where he fought in the Spanish-American war in 1898.

Homespun and Hearty

When the air grows nippy and mornings have a frosted look, it's time to plan for hearty meals to match the November bluster. There's something wonderful about the down-to-earth meals that smell so good in their cooking and bring back a sense of home of a generation ago.

These so-called country foods, the hearty stews and casseroles, pot roasts with apples and vegetables stuffed or served sweet and sour as a side dish... may be old-fashioned but they still are wonderfully good. They're nutritious as well and embody all the careful arts of yesterday in the farm kitchens and city kitchens of long ago homemakers who made cooking a stay-at-home career along with all their other domestic duties.

Since times have changed a bit and tempos have stepped up, recipes today keep the same savory smells of yesterday's recipes but their preparation is simpler. Geared to the need and availability of "quick" foods, many really are short-cuts compared to yesterday, they use the convenient, canned or prepared foods that belong to the modern cook.

An example is the homespun Sausage Bake... a sturdy dish that originated from country kitchens. It's an excellent main dish for a cold, autumn day and the family will relish its savory, full-bodied flavor.

Ground sausage meat is simmered with celery and onion in smooth, canned tomato sauce. Then this concoction is layered with yellow hominy (canned, of course!) and mellow Jack cheese. (Mozzarella, Swiss or mild processed cheese are admirable substitutes for the old-fashioned Jack cheese.) Bake some biscuits (homemade or the refrigerated kind) along with the casserole.

While all this is going on, prepare a green pepper-cabbage slaw or one of the varieties of Sweet-Sour Vegetables presented today.

Then there's the meat loaf supper that's been a favorite standby of most families for generations. The recipe here is a bit different, however, using braunschweiger liver sausage as the main flavor ingredient. It really is different and great. Suggested to go with the new meat loaf type is an old-fashioned (and easy to make) spoonbread that can be baked right along with the meat. Crisp bits of bacon are added to the cornmeal batter to make this a treat.

Then there's the delicious German-style favorite of beef and apples. This savory combination can be made with leftover cooked beef and the recipe may be varied by serving saffron rice or noodles with it. Stuffed Peppers always appeal to some families... green peppers seemed to be liked tremendously or not at all. If the family is probaked pepper, then here's the recipe to try.

The recipe for Baked Salmon

Noodles is another easy dish brimming with nutrition. This recipe comes from the Yukon country of Alaska and has been popular with many American cooks for years. Once tried, it will be another recipe for the files that uses canned salmon just a bit differently.

BRAUNSCHWEIGER MEAT LOAF

- 1 pound braunschweiger liver sausage
- 1 pound ground beef
- 3 eggs
- 1/2 pkg. dry onion soup mix
- 1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Combine ingredients, mixing thoroughly. Pat into loaf pan 9 x 5 x 3 inches. Bake 50 minutes. Serve with Onion Sauce. Recipe makes eight servings.

ONION SAUCE

- 1/2 pkg. dry onion soup mix
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1 1/2 cups water

Blend soup mix with flour in saucepan. Add water and stir; heat to boiling, then reduce heat and cook slowly for 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Recipe makes one and one-third cups sauce.

BACON SPOON BREAD

- 1/2 pound bacon
- 1 cup yellow cornmeal

POST-CRESCENT FOOD EDITOR
By Lillian Mackesy

- 3 cups milk
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 3 egg yolks, well beaten
- 3 egg whites

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Cut bacon into one-inch pieces. Cook in skillet until crisp; remove, drain, saving two tablespoons drippings. Reserve cooked bacon.

In a saucepan, blend cornmeal into two cups milk; cook over medium heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; stir in remaining cup of milk, bacon drippings, baking powder and salt; add beaten egg yolks.

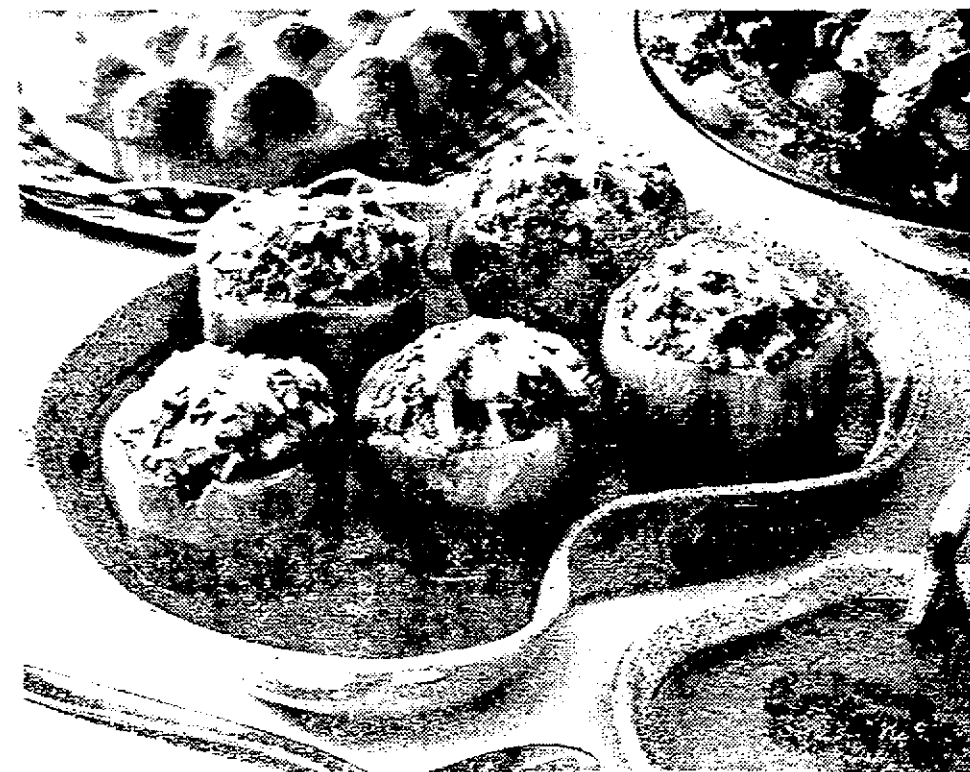

Beat egg whites until they form stiff peaks; fold about three-fourths beaten egg whites into cornmeal mixture. Quickly fold in remaining egg whites and bacon pieces.

Pour into well-greased two-quart casserole. Bake 50 minutes or until golden brown. Bread is done when knife inserted in center comes out clean. Serve immediately. Recipe makes eight servings.

SWEET-SOUR VEGETABLES

- 8 slices bacon
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 cans vegetables of choice
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch

Note that choice of vegetables is optional. Italian-style green beans, French green beans, kernel corn, peas, asparagus, lima beans or mixed vegetables or a favorite variation of above.

Quick Stuffed Peppers

including beets and carrots, may be used for this recipe.

Cut bacon into one-inch pieces; cook in skillet until crisp. Remove and drain, reserving two tablespoons drippings.

Cook chopped onions in two tablespoons drippings until onions are tender. Stir in sugar, vinegar and salt.

Drain green beans (or other vegetable); reserve one cup liquid. Combine cornstarch with vegetable liquid; add to skillet and cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, just until mixture boils. Add beans or other vegetable and heat through. Sprinkle with bacon pieces just before serving. Recipe makes about eight servings.

During the coming months both fresh and processed non-citrus fruits will reflect a 14 per cent drop in production. The principal fruits stored for later marketing are apples, pears and grapes. Fresh citrus supplies also are expected to be smaller than last year. This means many fresh fruits will be more expensive than last winter.

Enamel Works on Linoleum

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: My hall entrance and steps have linoleum which looks shabby. Was thinking of painting it. but worry about how paint can take the wear of snow, boots, etc.

A: Top quality floor enamel will do all right for you. First be sure to get off every trace of wax or grease.

Q: Last week I was planning to put up a weathervane, then found I could not aim it accurately. I had no compass. Is there a substitute?

A: All you need are your watch and the sun. Point the hour hand at the sun. Halfway between this and 12 is south. Remember to allow for the advanced hour of daylight saving!

I don't know any cloudy-day non-electronic direction finders. I recall reading somewhere about moss growing on the north side of trees. But I have more than a few doubts about this fable's accuracy.

Q: I put waterproofing paint on the basement walls of my 15 year-old house. But still water seeps in, in quite a few areas. Is there any once-and-for-all way to stop this condition?

A: If good waterproofing paint, applied properly, hasn't worked, here's what will: Excavate down to the footings; brush the walls as clean of dirt as you can. Either have them covered with hot tar, or smear on regular roofing cement. Then embed overlapping sheets of heavy roll roofing, followed by another layer of tar or roofing cement. This treatment is rough on man, shrubbery and flower beds. But it makes a basement dry.

Q: Please tell me how to make the floor of our no-basement house warm this winter. Last winter it was cold and drafty without let-up. Our heating pipes run along the attic and down into the rooms.

A: If there's no way to insulate the underside of the floor, you can either try to make-do with thick carpeting or revise your heating system: something which will bring the heat source near the floor. Another solution: Build another floor above the present one, with vapor barrier and insulation in the intervening space.

Cauliflower Touchy to Grow, Yet It's Worth All Pampering It Gets

The cauliflower must still long for its Mediterranean home, for it prefers to grow near large bodies of water where naturally cool conditions prevail, such as the Pacific Coast and Long Island.

This exacting member of the cabbage family is less tolerant of adverse soil and climatic conditions than any of its near relatives. Lovers of cauliflower consider all this pampering quite worthwhile, for it produces one of nature's prettiest, most delicious edible bouquets.

"Cabbage flower," its literal translation from the Latin, (caulis meaning cabbage and floris meaning flower) consists of snow-white clusters of tiny flowerets. The separated flowerets are a favorite on the hors d'oeuvres tray. Dunk them in cheese or onion dip, or serve them marinated as an antipasto.

Cauliflower lends itself to many flavor combinations. Try it with a white sauce delicately seasoned with dill. A cheese sauce poured over the whole head just before serving is delicious. Or sprinkle sliced flowerets with fine bread crumbs and saute in butter.

FINESS OF CURD

A cauliflower's fineness of quality is indicated by the white or cream-white of its center, or curd, and by its firm compactness.

Because cauliflower is so quick and easy to cook, there is danger of overcooking. The delicate texture, flavor and color of this vegetable may be best low in calories — only a scanty 30 calories per cup of cauliflower — method is used. Run an inch of water into a saucepan. Add a cup of cooked cauliflower, a teaspoon of salt, and possibly a teaspoon of fresh lemon juice to keep the "curd" white, then bring to boil. Add flowerets and cook five minutes without a lid, then cover and cook another 7 to 10 minutes, or until just "crisp-tender" when tried with a fork.

The Cauliflower comes to the table in many guises for it's one of the most versatile of vegetables. Here it is pickled as an antipasto salad. The separated flowerets make an excellent appetizer to dunk in a dip.

A whole head should cook for an additional five minutes covered, but in any case, try undercooking cauliflower if your previous cooking method hasn't been too successful. Another success hint: don't start cauliflower too far in advance of the meal, for it can overcook while it's being kept warm.

Saturday Buffet

This pound cake is delicious when first baked, but even better after a day or so.

FEATHER POUND CAKE

2 cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup (2 sticks) butter
2 teaspoons vanilla
6 large eggs
1 1/2 cups sugar

On wax paper, sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. In a large mixing bowl, cream butter and vanilla; gradually beat in sifted dry ingredients just until blended. With clean beater in medium mixing bowl, beat eggs until thick and ivory color; thoroughly beat in sugar, about 2 tablespoons at a time. Gradually beat the egg mixture into the flour mixture so that batter is fluffy and smooth. Turn into 2 buttered and floured metal loaf pans (each about 8 by 4 by 3 inches); bake in a slow (325 degrees) oven until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean—50 to 60 minutes. Allow cakes in pans to stand on wire rack for 10 minutes; turn right side up; cool. Store in tightly covered container to mellow for a day or two.

Adds Flourishes To Kitchen Tasks

When you are frying apples to serve with pork or poultry, you may want to sweeten the apples mulling, with molasses instead of sugar. Nice flavor change!

Serve those cooked carrots with sauteed mushrooms for an interesting vegetable dish.

A few cooked snap beans left over in the refrigerator? Chop in our big Fall-Winter Pattern them up fine and heat with canned tomato soup. Tastes good and stretches the soup!

Useless Finesse
South took a useless finesse with the queen of hearts, losing to the king. Key knew that the explanation was hopeless unless he could talk South out of the hand. Key therefore cashed the king of spades, deliberately setting up two tricks for South, and then maliciously led the nine of clubs through dummy's long suit.

Every reader of this column would take the club finesse and claim the rest of the trick. The actual declarer counted two spades, two hearts, one club and four diamonds if the suit broke favorably. So he refused the club finesse in order to go after the diamonds. Down one.

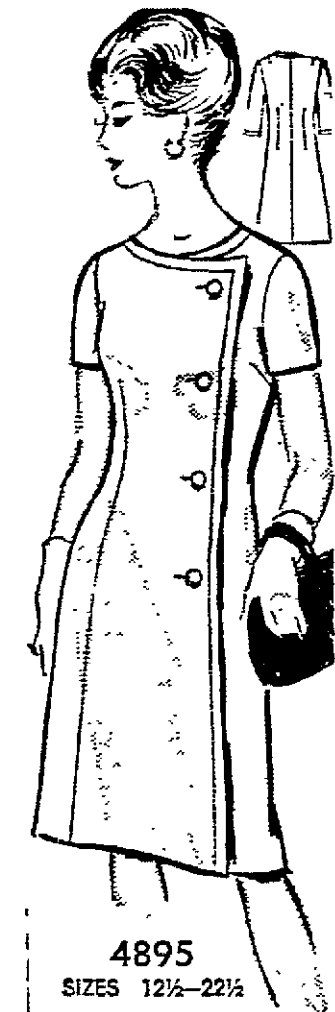

Be on you, Norman Kay! (But do the same thing to the Italians next June.)

Daily Question
Partner opens with three clubs, and the next player passes. You hold: S-K 8 6 2; H-K 7 6 3; D-J 7; C-K 9. What do you say?

Answer: Pass. Partner's bid shows less than a normal opening bid, and you also have less than a bid. Game is out of the question.

I will, however, name the West player, Philadelphia expert

Norman Kay, who earned a berth on the 1968 Olympic

Bridge Team with his partner

Edgar Kaplan of New York. Kay is known far and wide as the kindest-hearted bridge player in captivity, but you may want to take a second look at his heart after reading this story.

Key led the six of hearts, and dummy's ter won the first trick.

Declarer led a diamond from dummy for a finesse with the ten. Kay won with the jack and looked for a way out of the trap since it was obvious that seven club tricks would soon tumble into declarer's lap.

Key switched to the deuce of spades since there was a remote chance that the defenders could take four spade tricks. Kaplan won with the ace and switched back to hearts, thus making it clear that South had good spades.

Useless Finesse

South took a useless finesse with the queen of hearts, losing to the king. Key knew that the explanation was hopeless unless he could talk South out of the hand.

Key therefore cashed the king of spades, deliberately setting up maliciously led the nine of clubs

Every reader of this column claim the rest of the trick. The actual declarer counted two spades, two hearts, one club and four diamonds if the suit broke favorably. So he refused the club finesse in order to go after the diamonds. Down one.

Preformed Drop Cookie Dough New Convenience Food in Frozen Form

There's a newcomer in the cookie world just made for a bit of kitchen magic. Found in the section for frozen foods, easy-bake cookies are in drop dough form, ready for the cookie sheet and a preheated, 350-degree oven.

The new pre-mixed dough comes in four pleasing flavors — vanilla sugar, chocolate chip, fudge nut and oatmeal raisin. The preformed drops of frozen dough are ready to be separated and placed on a cookie sheet and baked as needed.

The cookies may be served baked the way they are packaged or the cookie dough can become the basis for a creative dessert. A recipe for a Cookie Mosaic is one example, as are the recipes for Half and Half and Fudge Peanut Sandwiches.

COOKIE MOSAIC

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Draw two (6-inch) circles on two cookie sheets.

Place 14 frozen Easy Bake Cookies around rim of each circle, one-eighth inch apart, alternating flavors of cookies.

Two flavors may be used but it is more effective with four.

Fill center of circle with eight cookies. Bake 15 minutes or until golden.

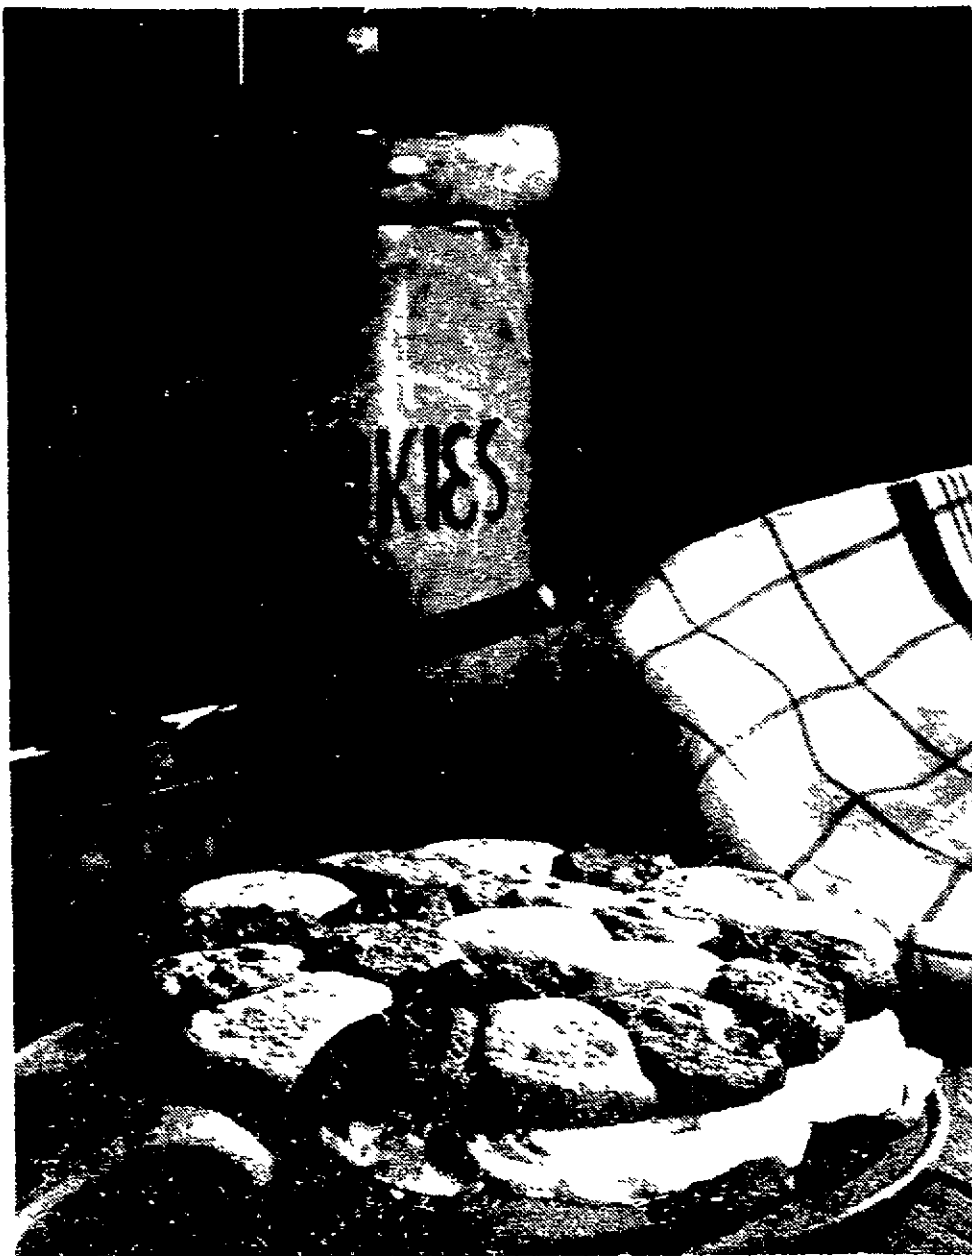

Using a long metal spatula, loosen from cookie sheet but do not remove until cold. Shortly before serving, sandwich mosaic layers together with one-half pint whipped and sweetened heavy cream. Recipe makes 8 to 10 servings.

HALF AND HALF

Arrange frozen Easy Bake Fudge Nut Cookies and Vanilla Sugar Cookies in pairs, sides touching, on a cookie sheet. Bake in a preheated, 350-degree oven for approximately 15 minutes. Cool.

FUDGE-PEANUT SANDWICHES

Bake one package of Easy Bake Fudge Nut Cookies as directed on the package. Spread half the cookies with a thin layer of peanut butter; top with remaining cookies. Makes 18 sandwiches.

This delightful Cookie Mosaic has been made from four different cookie doughs (now found preformed in the frozen food case), alternating flavors in a circle, then filling circle with cookies. The mosaic layers are sandwiched together with sweetened whipped cream. With a little care, a magnificent tower of cookies can be built for a special party.

Booker Shows First Collection Since Winning Yardley Award

By NADEANE WALKER

LONDON (AP) — The Mexican poncho, worn over trouser suits or dresses as a successor to the cape, is Hyman Booker's most eye-catching contribution to spring style in his new collection shown today.

The young American designer, in his first presentation since he won the Yardley Award earlier this year, kept the hemline riding high—about eight inches above the knee.

Rated Tops

Booker's colors are as pretty and gentle as his well-cut line: pink with navy, gray on banana yellow shadow checks, off-white and oyster jerseys, pistachio green and soft blue. A quarter-circle seeming under the armpit shapes the bustline on Madison, has been announced by her mother, Mrs. Wilma Retzlaff, used on dresses and coats, and laff, 130 N. Richmond St. Mr. the shirtwaister turns up in Day is the son of James Day, coats as well as dresses. The Madison, and the late Mrs. Day, coat and dress ensemble is still a Booker classic.

Booker, a 28-year-old ex-airman from Detroit, is rated right at the top of British ready-to-wear since he won the Yardley Award, top American prize for English designers. Following the triumph worth $1,000, he increased the size of his collection, and made a modest start in evening or cocktail wear.

"Next time, I'm branching out into furs and everything," he said.

Miss Retzlaff, Mr. Day Plan February Rite

The engagement of Miss Lois Retzlaff and Ronald Day, both of Madison, has been announced by her mother, Mrs. Wilma Retzlaff, used on dresses and coats, and laff, 130 N. Richmond St. Mr. the shirtwaister turns up in Day is the son of James Day, coats as well as dresses. The Madison, and the late Mrs. Day, coat and dress ensemble is still a Booker classic.

Booker's triangular ponchos are striped in soft pinks, yellows and greens. With them his models wear big wooden framed sunglasses. Some ensembles have vests with the front half matching the serape.

First Booker formal fashions are printed chifton tents falling from decorous yokes with long cuffed sleeves. He also uses linen and crepe for day dresses, mostly with round banded necklines.

Sees Change

As for that miniskirt, Booker admitted after the collection that this may be the last time he is able to hold out against longer skirts. He doesn't like them, but thinks they may come back anyway.

Besides new premises, Booker ready-to-wear has a new price range. His coat and matching dress outfits now retail for just over $100, which reflects his new status in the trade.

Egypt Demands U.N. Make Israel Withdraw

Many 'Firsts'
She's No Politician,
But Mayor Beat Odds

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — She's the first woman mayor in Hartford's history. She's the first Republican to be elected mayor of Hartford in 22 years. She's the first woman mayor in any major city in Connecticut. But Ann Uccello insists she's no politician.

A handsome woman who looks younger than her 45 years, Miss Uccello says the game of politics—the maneuvering, the horse trading and all that goes with it—annoys her.

The Republican councilwoman became Hartford's mayor Tuesday by getting the Security Council Apt to Consider Plan Thursday

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council, already divided over rival proposals for a Middle East settlement, consulted today on Egyptian demands that it deal with Israel's refusal to withdraw from territory it occupied in the June war.

Delegates expressed belief that the 15-nation council would take up the Egyptian request Thursday.

One diplomat charged privately that Egypt was exerting a "disruptive influence" in calling at this stage for debate on territory that Israel seized from Egypt, Jordan and Syria last June.

Egyptian sources said the meeting was requested to "precipitate action" by the various parties still bogged down after weeks of fruitless negotiations.

Many diplomats felt, however, that the purpose was to prevent Jordan from accepting an American proposal, one of the two rival plans submitted.

The American draft, already rejected by the Russians, calls for the withdrawal of armed forces from occupied territories and stresses the need for "a limitation of the wasteful and destructive arms race in the area."

Informed sources said that King Hussein of Jordan, now visiting in the United States, had told U.S. officials that he would not "interpose any objection" to the U.S. plan.

The other proposal, submitted by India, Mali and Nigeria, calls for Israeli withdrawal "from all territories occupied as a result of the recent conflict."

Israel considers this wording prejudicial to it. Both drafts call for a U.N. representative to be sent to the Middle East to seek a settlement, but they differ on the terms of his assignment.

Draft Protesters Face Call-Up, Hershey Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Col. Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, has told local Selective Service boards that college deferments should be denied men who refuse to carry their classification cards or who physically interfere with armed services recruiting officers visiting college campuses.

Hershey's office had formally refused to accept draft cards turned in at Selective Service headquarters here but has sent the cards to local boards of the draft registrants.

Hershey said registrants without their cards should be reclassified as available for service, with their names advanced to the top of the draft lists.

He said in an Oct. 26 letter to local boards that college deferments are granted in the national interest.

"It is obvious that any action that violates the Selective Service Act cannot be in the national interest and it follows that those who violate the act should be denied deferment in the national interest," he wrote.

No Malignancy Found in Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul's doctors announced today that laboratory tests had confirmed that the Pope's prostate gland, removed by surgery Nov. 4, was not cancerous.

The announcement was the first official word that the enlargement of the Pope's prostate, which put him to bed two months ago with an inflamed urinary tract, was not due to a malignancy. However, earlier bulletins after his operation Saturday had indicated as much.

Milwaukee Up to 18th in Population Ranking

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau reported Tuesday that the population of the Milwaukee metropolitan area has risen in national ranking from 20th to 18th.

The Paterson-Clifton-Passaic, N.J., area had been 18th but dropped to 20th and was replaced by Milwaukee.

The rankings are based on provisional estimates as of July 1, 1966, which list the Milwaukee area's population as 1,331,000.

Jackie Asks Fate of Pilots

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk disclosed today he told Mrs. John F. Kennedy that North Vietnam could not release the American fliers it holds prisoner "because it would be an encouragement to continue the bombing."

"They also consider the pilots as war criminals," Cambodia's prince told a news conference after Mrs. Kennedy flew to Thailand.

The prince, whose government maintains close ties with North Vietnam and the Viet Cong, said Mrs. Kennedy had brought up the subject of American prisoners and inquired particularly about American air-napped near Saigon February 1965. Hertz' death of Malaria about Donald Ramsey, an AID official captured in South Viet Nam almost two years ago. Seized by his wife through Communist Americans taken by the Viet Cong have been released through Cambodia in the past.

Looks Tired

Mrs. Kennedy, looking a bit tired after her six-day stay in Cambodia, returned to Bangkok to ill. They "apologized for this aboard a U.S. Air Force plane escorted to the Thai border by two Soviet-built Cambodian MIGs. After three days of social functions, sighing and shopping, she and her party leave for home early Saturday.

The prince said that he and Mrs. Kennedy "discussed" international affairs but did not enter into profound talks as her visit was private.

Sihanouk said Mrs. Kennedy "presented a very charming aspect of an American" but when asked if this had any effect on his views concerning American policy replied: "Your policies have no charms for us."

Peace Formula

He said he repeated to Mrs. Kennedy his formula for the solution of the Vietnam problem—an end to American bombing of North Vietnam and withdrawal of American troops from the South.

Sihanouk added that he was ready to assist in any effort to mediate between Washington and North Vietnam and the Liberation Front. However, he said "They don't want me."

"I am always willing to serve a cause for peace and friendship," the prince said.

Sihanouk said that he had given Mrs. Kennedy no special message for President Johnson.

San Franciscans Trounce Peace Bid

Voting Nearly 2 to 1 Against Call for Cease-Fire, Withdrawal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —, declared, however, he did not San Francisco voters soundly see the peace proposition result rejected Tuesday a peace proposition as a victory for Vietnam war situation calling for an immediate cease-fire and U.S. withdrawal in the Vietnam war.

The final count from all 1,341 precincts gave 132,496 votes against cease-fire and U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam and 76,632 in favor.

Joseph Alioto, Democratic attorney elected as mayor in the nonpartisan municipal election, said he believed the peace proposition result should encourage those supporting a negotiated settlement of the Vietnam conflict.

"I personally feel there should be a negotiated peace, followed by an American withdrawal, so that then a return to Vietnam consumers can reap the benefits of productivity," he said.

Romney indicated that labor legislation enacted in the 1950s to establish the collective bargaining process had encouraged the monopoly of power on both sides, but he did not specifically advocate new legislation.

A repetition of Romney's "brainwashing" charge came during an attack on the administration's control of information about Vietnam and domestic problems. "When you systematically control facts and manipulate the news to shape attitudes, then you are doing what the dictionary describes as brainwashing," he said. He said there are two types of brainwashing: one which uses force and duress and the other which is the LBJ type.

The audience applauded when he said he would "continue to government, he claimed. "We call a spade a spade" regardless of political consequences.

Teen-Ager Disheartened Upon Finding Grandma's Souvenirs

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 14-year-old girl who needs Christmas and birthdays and advice from an older person. I am just sick about the problem is my grandmother. This. Should I tell anyone? If so, to whom? — Disappointed

Dear Disappointed: Tell your grandmother that she must have gotten some of the hospital property mixed in with hers when she packed her shopping bag. To circulate the information around the family would serve no useful purpose. Grandma is the only one who needs to know that you are on to her.

Landers

Grandma works in a hospital. I noticed that whenever she came from work she always took her shopping bag to the back of the house. She did it in a way that made me think she was hiding something. Yesterday the phone rang just as I was about to go to bed. Gram was coming in. She said, "I'll answer it," and put her laundry on the chair. I disapproved the way women come husband does the supper dishes to it. Grandma has been taking pregnant, dragging their bum-my knitting and a good book and When I complained to my folks bedsheets, pillowcases, wash-dies, and sometimes a child or off I go to the coin laundry. things. I also know why she's sure he was speaking for many women across the land. But he wasn't speaking for ME. My husband offered to buy me an automatic washer three times last year but I said no.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 16-year-old girl who has been dating for about six months. I am allowed to go out on Friday and Saturday evenings. My current is midnight and I am permitted to invite my date in for 45 minutes.

It sounds good, but wait till I look at "Teen-age Sex — Ten you hear the rest. My 11-year-old brother has instructions that in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems.

Vike Football Kept in Perspective, Says McKee

BY STEVE WILSON
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Sentiments common to those who have watched Lawrence University quarterback Chuck McKee operate on the gridiron the last three years are that it's unfortunate he didn't go "big time" and that Lawrence can count itself lucky for luring such an outstanding talent.

McKee, however, is of a somewhat different opinion.

"My decision not to accept a football scholarship and play at a bigger school has been vindicated a thousand times over. And if anybody looked out on the deal, I did, not Lawrence."

So speaks the senior triple-threat star who dominates Midwest Conference statistics and stands a chance for "Little All-America" billing.

His views on small college athletics are as noteworthy as his dazzling grid achievements.

"Our team takes football very seriously. We're not out there every afternoon just to have fun or even just be good. We can't stand to lose, and our 7-0 record is a matter of real pride.

Larger Perspective

"But we keep our interest for football in the larger perspective of undergraduate education. All the players know why they came to Lawrence and that it wasn't primarily to play football.

"The rapport that has developed among the players and coaches — a fact that has meant so much to the team's success — is a result of real respect for one another as intelligent individuals, not just good football players."

Therein lies the often obscured logic of an athlete who possesses big college skills, but more importantly, shares the small college belief that sports are an integral segment of education, but certainly not its main emphasis.

McKee, then, hardly stands in the somewhat anomalous position that his athletic ability suggested an excellent student planning a graduate study in medicine, his football takes a back seat to academics.

"I think Lawrence is a top-rate school in a wide range of respects from the classrooms to the athletic programs. The football team should reflect this excellence just as the unbeaten TV College Bowl team did three years ago."

There are several more subtle manifestations of a small college's preferred perspective which McKee is quick to note.

"On the days of our home games the players can still attend classes in the morning. This is possible because these people are mature enough and devoted enough to get themselves up for the game without lengthy meetings or discussions."

Attitude 'Great'

"When the team is out of town, the guys can study the night before and find better morning pursuits than watching cartoons on the motel TV. I like it that way. The attitude around here is great. We aren't that taken up with ourselves. We're not football players every hour of the season."

"I can ask our biggest, meanest lineman what's new and expect to hear a reaction to a contemporary issue, not just his feelings on the left 30 sweep."

This Saturday Lawrence shoots for its eighth victory, a feat which would make the 1967 team the winningest Viking '11 ever — a fitting climax to the career of the finest quarterback in the school's history.

"This is the one we've been looking forward to for three years," says McKee, a small college exemplar who has found a few other things along the way.

Card First Baseman Picked First on All AP Ballots

SAN JUAN (AP) — Puerto Rican Orlando Cepeda, named the National League's Most Valuable Player in a unanimous vote, is a very happy and proud man.

Interviewed at his Bayamon home after his selection today, Cepeda gave most of the credit for his award and tremendous comeback with the world champions St. Louis Cardinals to team trainer Dr. Robert Bauman, "whose selflessness and hard work helped me greatly this year."

The Cards' big first baseman became the first player in the history of the National League to receive unanimous support from the MVP award.

He won with the highest batting average since Pittsburgh's Dick Groat won it batting .325 in 1960. Cepeda finished the season also with .325, hit 25 homers and batted in 111 runs, top in the circuit.

"This is the most marvelous thing that could happen to a ball player," Cepeda said after receiving a telephone call from St. Louis announcing the award.

"I feel very proud, but I really don't know what to say. I want to thank all the people who helped me."

"This is so big, especially when I was so close to quitting the game because of my knee injury. Imagine, for the second year in a row a Puerto Rican player wins the award," Cepeda added.

He was referring to Roberto Clemente, the Pittsburgh Pirates' outfielder winner last year and third in the voting this year. Clemente received 129 points this time and finished behind catcher Tim Lincecum of the Cardinals, who got 136 points.

Ron Santo, Chicago third baseman, was fourth and Hank

Florida State Back Leads in Total Offense

Hammond Jumps From Seventh; O. J. Top Rusher

NEW YORK (AP) — Kim Hammond of Florida State has rushed up from seventh place to take the lead in total offense among the nation's major-college football players.

Hammond, a senior, gained 308 total yards in last Saturday's 26-7 victory over Memphis State, boosting his season aggregate to 1,580 yards. Sal Olivias of New Mexico State is second with 1,478 yards, statistics compiled by National Collegiate Sports Services, showed Tuesday.

Terry Stone of New Mexico last week's pace-setter, slipped to seventh in total offense. However, he maintained his lead in passing with 127 completions in 272 attempts for 1,662 yards.

O. J. Simpson of Southern California retained the No. 1 position in rushing although a foot injury prevented him from playing in last Saturday's game against California. Simpson has gained 1,050 yards, 122 more than Max Anderson of Arizona State, who holds second place.

Zenon Andrusyshyn of UCLA climbed into first place in punting with a 43.80 yard average. He holds a slim lead over Tom Galloway of the University of Texas at El Paso, averaging 43.77 yards.

Big Edge Offensively Makes Purdue 13-Point Choice Over Gophers

By JOE MOOSHIL
CHICAGO (AP) — Everybody knows it'll be Purdue's offense against Minnesota's defense Saturday in the first of three key games which will determine the Big Ten championship and Rose Bowl representativeness.

But what about Purdue's defense and Minnesota's offense? A close check on these figures readily shows why Purdue has been made a 13-point favorite.

While each team has run up a 4-0 record in the conference, Purdue ranks first in offense, and Minnesota first in defense.

On the other hand, Purdue is a close second to Minnesota on defense and Minnesota is a poor fourth to Purdue in offense.

A team's defensive ranking is based on the opposition's average per game in points, first downs and yards yielded per play.

Minnesota has yielded an average of 5.5 points per game to 13.3 for Purdue and this is the main reason that Minnesota ranks above Purdue on defense.

However, on average yards yielded per play, Purdue loses Minnesota 3.6 yards to 3.7 for the Gophers.

No Contest

Offensively, there is no comparison. Purdue has averaged 37.3 points a game to 15.3 for Minnesota. The Boilermakers, led by the fabulous Leroy Keyes, averaged 6.2 yards per play to 4.5 for the Gophers.

On rushing yardage Purdue has the edge of 5.1 yards a play to 3.4 for Minnesota and in passing the Boilermakers average 9.0 yards to 7.9 for Minnesota.

"They do everything a little better than anyone we've played so far," Minnesota Coach Murray Warmath said Tuesday. "All we can do is hope Leroy Keyes doesn't get the ball in the open too often. Really, our only hope is to ask gentleman Jack Mollenkopf not to play Keyes."

Questions Ratings

Mollenkopf, however, wasn't buying Warmath's line and said, "Anybody who isn't afraid of Minnesota has to be crazy. The only thing I don't understand is why they're not higher in the polls."

Purdue is No. 5 in the AP Poll. Mollenkopf dismissed any disadvantage Purdue might have in that the Boilermakers can't go to the Rose Bowl because of the Big Ten's no-repeat rule.

"We knew we couldn't go from the start," said Mollenkopf. "Our kids are determined to win the championship and are doing a good job. But we have to get this one."

Redskins Hold Secret Parley

Players Discussed 'Little Things,' Declares Huff

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Redskins, winless in their last five National Football League games, held a secret locker room huddle Tuesday with coaches excluded.

Linebacker Sam Huff, who called the player meeting as team captain, said the Redskins record was among the topics, but he wouldn't elaborate.

Huff said the players discussed "the record and a lot of little things: I don't want to say anything more."

The Redskins, 2-4-2 for the season, have sagged in the final quarter for five straight weeks. Twice they wound up with ties, three times they lost.

Coach Otto Graham charged Monday that some of the players were not hustling. He didn't single out any names.

Huff, who played in six championship games in eight seasons with the New York Giants, confirmed he called the secret meeting.

"I think it is a good idea for the players to get together by themselves once in a while, in case they have any gripes to get off their chests," Huff said.

Asked if there were any gripes, the linebacker insisted, "No, it was just player talk about everything. Nothing for publication."

Rookie Honors Go to Rod Carew And Lee May

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Rod Carew of the Minnesota Twins and Lee May of the Cincinnati Reds have been named rookies of the year in the American and National Leagues respectively, the Sporting News announced today.

Best rookie pitchers selected in the weekly sports newspaper's 22nd annual poll of major league players were Dick Hughes of the St. Louis Cardinals and Tom Phoebus of the Baltimore Orioles in the American League.

Cleveland Shows Marked Improvement on Defense

Browns Have Won 5 of Last 6 Tilts

GREEN BAY — The Cleveland Browns, their most positive thinkers are convinced, should be undefeated at this point.

This, at least, is the somewhat chilling word from Nate Wallack, publicity director of the 1 in total defense, according to the National Football League statistics released today.

And they apparently will need more than ever, after their heavy offensive loss in last Sunday's bruising 13-10 loss to the Baltimore Colts.

Halfback Elijah Pitts and fullback Jim Grabowski both suffered first quarter leg injuries in the Baltimore game and neither is expected to see action Sunday against the Cleveland Browns.

Pitts will be out for an undetermined time with an achilles heel injury, while Grabowski's ailment is considered less serious.

"They'll both miss the Cleveland game Sunday in Milwaukee," Lombardi said Tuesday.

"But it's hard to say how soon they'll be ready to play."

The loss of the starting backs, naturally, hampered the Packers in the last three quarters of the home run for the New York Colts game. The final score is 17-10.

The Packers, who have relied heavily on defense this season, for a paper company in New York apparently will have to lean over more on the defenders against Cleveland.

Leads League

Green Bay leads the league in total defense, having allowed an average of 215.1 yards per game. The Packers also lead in pas-

Kelly Leads Rushers

Green Bay Remains First in Total Defense, Ranks 10th Offensively

GREEN BAY (AP) — The sing defense with a 92-yard seventh - ranked Frank Ryan, gains an average of 169.6 yards per game, while halfback Leroy Kelly leads the league in rushing with a 3.2-yard average per carry, and 668 yards for the season.

Ernie Green, the Browns' fullback, ranks ninth in rushing with 428 yards and a 4.5-yard average.

The only Packer among the league's top 10 rushers is Grabowski, who ranked just ahead of Green with 448 total yards. His per-carry average, though, was only 3.9.

Rookie halfback Ben Davis of Cleveland heads punt return listings with 190 yards in 14 tries for a 13.6 yard average.

Green Bay bonus halfback Donny Anderson, who will fill in for Pitts Sunday, is third in punt returns with a 10.9 average in nine carries.

Anderson also punts, and ranks 14th in that department with a 38.5 yard average for 39 kicks.

Tied for Sixth

Other Packers listed among the leaders in the latest NFL statistics were kicking specialist Don Chandler, quarterback Bart Starr and flanker Boyd Dowler.

Chandler was tied for sixth in scoring with 46 points on nine field goals and 21 point - after - touchdown conversions. Right behind him with 47 points is

Thomson Now Hitting Homers In Politics

WATCHUNG, N.J. (AP) — Former baseball star Bobby Thomson scored an election home run Tuesday, winning a council seat in this Somerset County community.

Thomson, a Republican, registered a narrow 734-729 victory over James M. Murphy, a Democrat.

Thomson, who hit the historic home run for the New York Giants that defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers in the 1951 National League playoff, is an executive for a paper company in New York.

Of his career in politics, Thomson said: "I think it's a good experience, a good education."

He had been appointed to an unexpired term last year but this was his first election bid.

Hawks Extend Mark to 12-1

Hand Bulls 10th Defeat, 111-106; Celts, 76ers Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cincinnati didn't have Oscar Robertson and missed him. Chicago didn't have Reggie Harding and didn't.

The Royals were whipped by Boston 113-103 in a National Basketball Association game Tuesday night and the lack of the injured Big O was critical.

The Bulls were beaten, too, 111-106 by St. Louis, about as close as the have-not Bulls have been to their second victory this season. Harding, the big Chicago center, was suspended for failing to rejoin the club after leaving it when his mother died in Detroit.

In other NBA games, Philadelphia downed San Diego 130-105 and San Francisco whipped Seattle 126-112.

Sam Jones led the Celtics to victory over the Royals, scoring 10 straight points in the third quarter, the only points he scored in the game. John Havlicek was Boston's high scorer with 23 points while Adrian Smith had 27 for Cincinnati.

Rally to Tie

The Hawks, 12-1 on the season as opposed to the Bulls' 1-10 mark, almost blew the game after having a 17-point lead in the second period. Chicago tied the game with a minute to go, but consecutive baskets by Paul Silas and Joe Caldwell iced the verdict.

Wilt Chamberlain got 19 points, his high for the season, six of them sparking a 12-point Philadelphia spurt in the second quarter against San Diego. Hal Greer was high for the 76ers, with 30. Dave Gambee got 20 for San Diego.

The victory put Philadelphia back on top in the Eastern Division by a half-game over Boston.

San Francisco surged in the second half, scoring 33 points in each of the last two periods after Seattle had trailed by only one point at halftime. Fred Hetzel paced the Warriors with 25 points while Bob Weiss topped the SuperSonics with 20.

In the American Basketball Association, Indiana whipped Pittsburgh 100-83 and Dallas defeated Oakland 118-112.

Garrett Tops In Versatility

Chiefs' Halfback Combined Yardage Leader in AFL

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Nance of Boston leads the American Football League's rushers and Oakland's Hewitt Dixon is the top pass catcher. But the versatility leader is Kansas City's Mike Garrett.

Garrett ran for 192 yards in the Chiefs' 42-13 thrashing of New York last Sunday and moved into second place behind Nance in the rushing statistics. He has 671 yards to Nance's 822.

But among the nine AFL players who have gained more than 100 yards rushing and receiving, Garrett is the leader. His 140 yards on catches give him 811 over-all, 59 yards more than Keith Lincoln of Buffalo.

Dawson Top Passer

Dixon has caught 43 passes for 423 yards to lead that department. Len Dawson of Kansas City is the top passer with 119 completions in 197 attempts for a 60.4 average.

Emerson Boozer of New York leads the scorers with 78 points on 13 touchdowns but is out for the season with torn ligaments in his right knee.

Clintonville Teachers Play Diplomat '5'

CLINTONVILLE — Junior and senior high school teachers will play the Harlem Diplomats basketball team, led by Goose Tatum Jr., at the Senior High School gym at 8 p.m. Friday.

The Men's Teachers' Association, Werner Wernberg, Carl Brugink, Chet Jurkovic, Al Mattson, Bob Ehrke, Ken Herrmann, Dennis Bessette, Bob McMahon and Glig Johnson will be the referees.

Men's Cage Loop To Operate With Two Divisions

KAUKAUNA — The recreation department sponsored Adult Basketball League will operate with two divisions. Six teams will compete in Class A and seven in Class B.

Games will be scheduled on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, the latter two nights scheduled in the old gym at the High School, while Tuesday night games will be at Quinney School.

Tech Named Top Prep '11'

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee Boys' Tech, a seasoned blend of poise and power, was named Wisconsin's top high school football team today in the final Associated Press "Big Ten" poll of the season.

Tech, unbeaten in eight games and champions of the Milwaukee City Conference for the fourth straight year, won in close balloting by Wisconsin sports writers and sportscasters over Madison La Follette.

La Follette finished only three points behind the Milwaukeeans, who collected 167 points.

Points are awarded on the basis of 10 for each first place vote, nine for each second place vote, etc.

Kohler won small school honors in the final "Little Ten" poll last week.

Rounding out the top 10 were: Marshfield Columbus, 3rd; Racine Horlick, 4th; Wausau, 5th; Green Bay West, 6th; Antigo, 7th; Schofield, 8th; Durand, 9th, and Oconomowoc, 10th.

Durand and Oconomowoc joined the elite at the expense of Waukesha Memorial (8-1), which had been seventh, lost its finale to Milwaukee Marquette 19-7 and Shorewood (7-0-1) dropped from 10th place after tying West Allis Central 19-19.

Tech, which closed its season with a 55-0 romp over Milwaukee Riverside, was described by Coach Jim Richardson as "a pretty balanced team offensively with the offense balanced between running and passing."

Tech, with seniors in 17 of the 22 starting positions, rolled up 272 points and allowed only 40. Only one team, Milwaukee Washington, was able to score more than a single touchdown against the Trojans.

"There were not too many mistakes," Richardson said. "We let the other team make them."

Tech runners gained 1,400 yards and Tech passers accounted for another 800.

Only one Trojan game was close. Rufus King fell 14-6 in son said.

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Pierce County (Tacoma) voters rejected Tuesday a proposed $10 million bond issue to help nearby King County (Seattle) construct a multi-purpose domed stadium.

The rejection came on an unofficial count of 28,350 against 24,740 for with all but 14 of the 494 precincts tallied.

King County voters will cast ballots in February on a $40 million bond issue to erect the stadium.

The American League has promised Seattle a baseball expansion franchise in 1969, providing a stadium is available.

The issue has been defeated in past returns and one on a pass interception. He could do it hope the franchise promise will turn the tide in the February election.

A Matter of Study

Caffey had reference, of course, to Nitschke's clutch stops of Baltimore's Lenny Moore, the first of which saw him hurl the Colt veteran for a one-yard loss in a fourth-and-one situation in the third quarter. The highly mobile ex-Illini later felled Moore for no gain in a like circumstance at the beginning of the fourth quarter, immediately following which the Packers drove 56 yards to a short-lived 10-0 lead.

Later, reflecting upon these spectacular efforts, Nitschke explained how he happened to be in the right place at the right time. "Each team has tendencies to run a certain back in a certain formation," he said. "It's a matter of studying a means so much to them to beat team. Ninety per cent of the time they'll go with a favorite play or a favorite running back."

Then, as the listener reels under the boldness of the quick answer, Billy Ray adds with a grin: "I'm just a wheat germ boy."

Some observers say Billy Ray is playing better this season than ever before, possibly goad- ed to greater heights at the prospect of becoming "the other Smith" on the Colts' squad.

Reams of publicity preceded rookie Bubba Smith to Balti- more's training camp, and the praise over the Michigan State, giant didn't escape Billy Ray's notice.

The Real Problem With Lake Winnebago

What is the Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission and its chairman, Gordon Bubolz, attempting to do or not do for the City of Appleton's well-laid and approved plans for tapping Lake Winnebago to expand and improve the quality of the city's water supply?

The question must be raised in view of recent actions by the commission in letters and appearances before county boards and other groups around Lake Winnebago, requesting a public hearing on Appleton's project.

The commission, which is one of several bodies on the local, regional and state level which endorsed the water expansion, appears to be pressing for a study into water diversion by Appleton.

It has been pointed out in the past that if water diversion is a present or potential future problem, then such a study should have been made many, many years ago when Appleton started taking water from the Fox River, which in effect is Lake Winnebago.

With this thought in mind, and the fact that Appleton's water project will be ready to go next spring after having been approved by all the necessary state regulatory agencies, it would appear the Northeastern Planning Commission may be expending its energies in the wrong direction on this matter.

More Recreational Lands?

There is little doubt that the most enduring achievement of Gaylord Nelson as governor during two terms was his successful persuasion of the legislature to adopt a special program funded with a segregated tax to finance a significantly expanded program of state land purchases for future public recreational uses in a growing state that is increasingly urbanized and industrialized. While it was the governor's conception, and it was through determined effort that he succeeded in putting it on the statute books, it is useful to remember that it had bipartisan support. Without the backing of the Republicans in the legislature, who had the numbers to frustrate his plan had they chosen to do so, the so-called ORAP legislation could not have been enacted.

Now the legislature has received a proposal from a citizens committee chosen by Gov. Knowles, a Republican, which reviewed the results of that program during the last six years, and considered what modifications may be needed for the future. The governor appears to support the principal proposals of the report, but because the committee used a year to make its studies, and the 1967 legislature is nearing the end of its deliberations, its fate appears uncertain at the moment.

It seems probable that the issues it presents will be considered by interested citizens and officials in preparation for the next legislature that will convene in a little more than a year.

We have no doubt of the general public support of the concept of acquiring now the desirable outdoors recreational tracts that may be priced out of reach in another decade, or that our urban-oriented population in an era of widening leisure time

The Scope of Allied Effort in Vietnam

President Johnson and Secretary Rusk are fond of pointing out that our war in Vietnam is a cooperative affair with our allies contributing money and troops as evidence that they think it is important too.

It is by now well-known that military forces of other countries actually in Vietnam are only token and only those of South Korea, Australia and New Zealand are involved in any combat. They are a bare fraction of a per cent of the number of foreign troops there, not to mention the ratio to the inactive troops of South Vietnam.

But while it well may be that leaders of many countries don't want the Communists to win in Vietnam, their contributions in all ways are considerably slim. Moreover the United States Government tries to put a false front on the whole business.

In October the Department of State released a report that 37 nations of the world were assisting in the fight against the Viet Cong and North Vietnam. But Senator William Fulbright has pointed to some

Looking Backward
Important Railway Proposition

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Nov. 23, 1867.

On Saturday last, a proposition was laid before the Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce, from the President of the Milwaukee & Port Washington R.R. Co., asking the business men and capitalists of the city to take hold in earnest the construction of the contemplated line of railway from Milwaukee via Cedarburg, Plymouth, Chilton, Menasha and Appleton to Green Bay.

It runs through the most valuable timber land in the state. This area is the richest grain-growing region of all

In a letter dated Sept. 19, requested by and sent to the regional office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) at Chicago, the Northeastern Planning Commission declared, "In view of Appleton's water and water treatment needs and of the detailed facts outlined in the related engineering reports, it is the opinion of this office that at this time Lake Winnebago represents the best selection for a new water source for Appleton; and further that a plant addition based on 40 to 50 year population projections would be justified."

The commission also said that with regard to pollution abatement in the big lake, "It is inconceivable that the Appleton water supply project will cause any direct reduction in pollution."

And at this point we address the suggestion to the Northeastern Planning Commission, which has been and can continue to play a vital role in rural, semi-rural planning and conservation, that it concentrate unrelenting effort in preparing a comprehensive anti-pollution program for Lake Winnebago so that the quality of water to be taken from there and consumed by Appleton residents can be protected. This is a most valuable and urgent service Mr. Bubolz and his commission can perform.

will demand ever more opportunity for the spiritual and healthful use of the outdoors.

The questions that must be resolved cover the details of the program, rather than the merits of the general idea which appear clear and popularly accepted. Thus far, for example, the state has bought about 150,000 acres of land, scattered in dozens of locations, under the Nelson act, as we may fittingly call it. The new report says that the state must buy another 500,000 acres, at a minimum, during the next decade or so. It wants more emphasis also upon state support for urban recreational facilities, including such subsidy for the troubled "inner core" of Milwaukee. It asks for the creation of more artificial lakes, which may strike some persons as incongruous in a state which is so richly endowed with natural waters. It wants more emphasis on the protection of wild rivers. It might be making a tacit concession to some of the critics in the legislature who want more work on the development of these raw lands now, for the benefit of the citizens of today who are paying for them.

But the most important of the changes recommended involves financing of a considerably enlarged program. It would attach the entire cause to a flexible appropriation law that would produce the money as the cost of the authorized scope requires, which is something novel in the Wisconsin budgeting system. Thus it would shift the burden of support to the general state taxpayer, while the existing state cigarette tax money base would be transferred to the state general fund. It seems likely that this prescription, ambitious as it is, will ultimately generate broad support. But its legislative consideration may also take considerable time.

flaws in the report. He listed Brazil, Ecuador, Greece, Guatemala, Laos, Luxembourg, Liberia, Turkey, Uruguay and Venezuela as nations which at one time did send some economic aid but "they have not given one single dollar in 1967." In the last two years, thirteen of the listed nations have each given $26,000 or less, according to Senator Fulbright. He also pointed out that "Japan's trade with North Vietnam between 1964 and 1966 was about 20 times the amount of Japan's assistance to South Vietnam during the same period."

If the war can be justified as a real struggle to halt totalitarian aggression, it can probably also be demonstrated that the affluent United States is far better equipped to fight it than nations struggling with poverty and other economic problems in Latin America, Africa and Asia. But efforts of the Johnson Administration to portray the conflict as a massive allied effort involving practically everyone but Communists is disgracefully misleading.

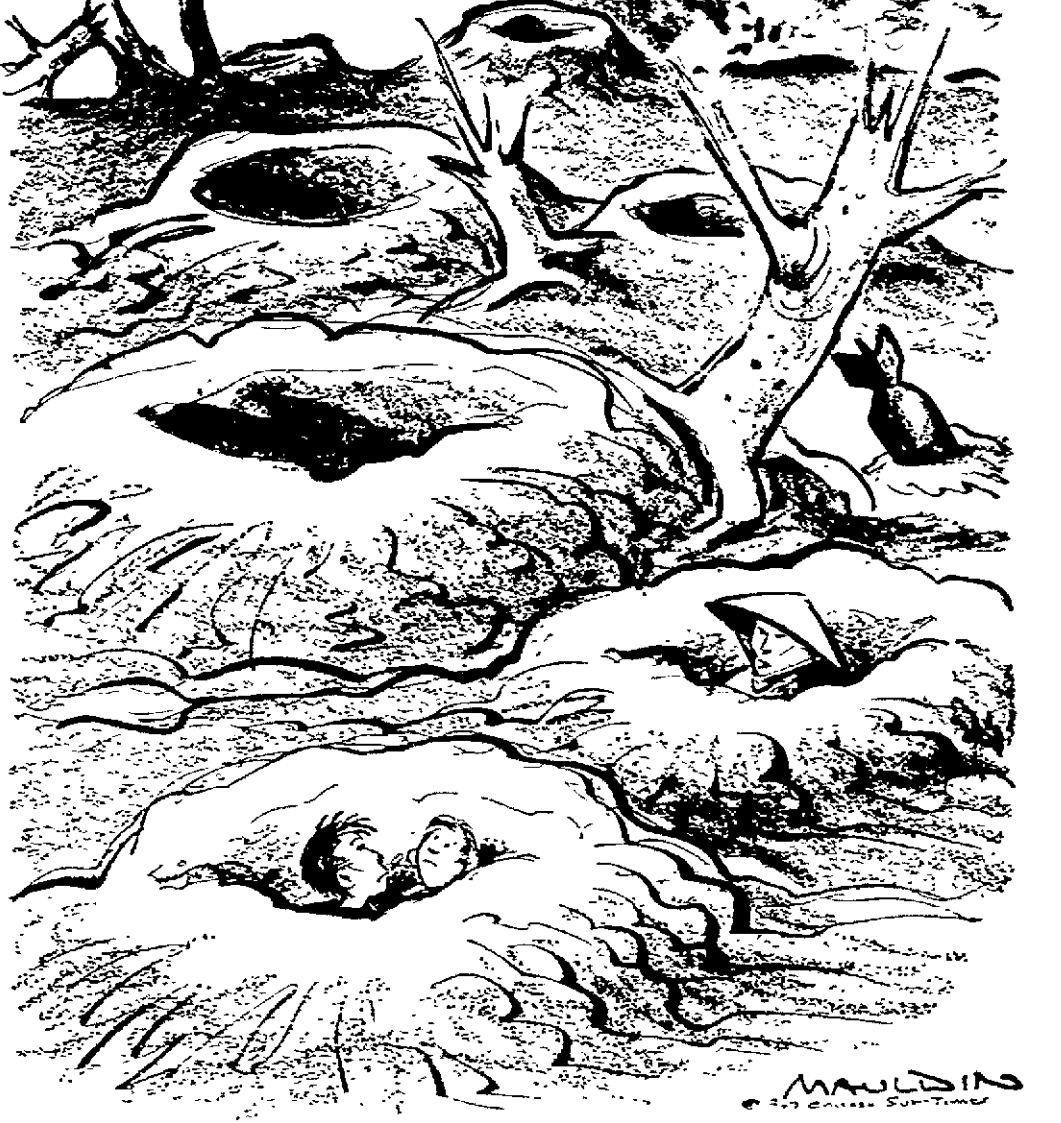

That line ought to be dropped if only because it no longer fools anyone.

Wisconsin There is a succession of small Water Powers all along the route until it taps the immense Water Powers of the Lower Fox River, where neither drought nor frost compel a stoppage of machinery.

All this region desires communication with Milwaukee. Now, it is for the business men of that city to say whether they will have it in such a way as will pour into Milwaukee the larger share of the products of 200,000 people.

Harvard's Handling of Recruiting Protestors Mild, But Effective

BY JOSEPH KRAFT
CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — An object lesson in how to handle dissent — in how to avoid a Berkeley East, if you like — has just been given here by the Harvard faculty. And it ought not to be lost on some of those in national authority who imagine the only way to deal with critics is by self-righteous confrontation.

The startling point of this Cambridge story lies in the determination of a portion of the student body to protest the war in Vietnam. An expression of their strong feelings emerged last year in the form of unruly demonstrations against a visit to the campus by Sec. of Defense Robert McNamara. At that time no disciplinary action was taken.

The issue cropped up again a week ago Wednesday when a group of students moved to protest the presence on campus of a recruiter for a chemical firm which produces napalm. In the course of the protest, some students barred the exit from the room on campus which the recruiter was using for interviews. Before the students abandoned the protest, the recruiter was, in effect, held prisoner for about seven hours.

TWO GRAVE DIFFICULTIES
This time the consensus among administrative officials at the university was that some punishment was necessary. But as they moved to take disciplinary action two grave difficulties presented themselves.

For one thing, there was the possibility of a major rift with the student body. Only about 70 students had been spotted as participants in the lock-in. These had been asked, as a means of identification prior to discipline, to turn in their bursar's cards.

As it happened, over 200 bursar's cards were turned in en masse. That meant that the protesters, while themselves small in number, had the sympathy of a far larger group of students if it came to a direct clash with the administration over their right to protest.

Secondly, there was the danger of a rift in the faculty. Several professors from the law school moved to represent the protesting students, and asked the administrative authorities for time to prepare the defense.

Somewhat brusquely, the administrative authorities refused this request. In a matter of hours, more than a third of the law school faculty had signed a petition of protest against the administration.

The posing of these issues touched off a furious debate among students and faculty. Generation was pitted against generation, and traditional notions of individual rights set against avant-garde concepts of collective guilt. Still, when the faculty met to settle the

Wisconsin Report
New Technical School Program Will Require More State Fiscal Aid

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
MADISON — When the members of the State Legislature returned to their chambers recently, many of them exchanged notes and discovered that there is a considerable disturbance in the grass roots about the discovery that there is now a new taxing district and a new tax liability in many of the rural sections of the state.

Wyngaard

Many local residents who have lived outside the vocational school districts which for half a century encompassed urban areas for the most part, evidently discovered that the vocational school eligibility and the vocational school tax liability has become statewide by a new law.

Thus they are being told that their tax bills will rise, whatever may be happening to their municipal or general high school budgets. It is apparent that some of them are not entirely pleased with the idea.

YEARS IN THE MAKING

Here is represented one of the most discouraging aspects of writing about public affairs, as it is also likely to be one of the disconcerting facts of life for public officials, although they may be less likely to acknowledge it. How any reasonably attentive person could be surprised that there is a new vocational school district plan by state law is difficult to understand.

The idea that all of the state's tax base should be put behind the training programs of the vocational schools and that all of the state's youths should be eligible for its benefits even as they are eligible for elementary and high school benefits without regard to their abode has been intensively discussed for at least a decade. The campaign came to a climax at least three years ago. A blueprint was drawn then in anticipation of the convening of the 1965 Legislature, which endorsed and acclaimed it as one of the most significant achievements of the era in Wisconsin public education.

During the many intervening months the officials involved have spent their utmost energies in explaining and publicizing and consulting with local officials about the organization and the operation of the districts. That they were successful is best attested by the fact that most of the county boards have acted affirmatively. Thirteen out of the 18 districts set out in the plan have chosen to begin operations now rather than to await the toleranc 1970 deadline set out in the law.

SHOULDN'T BE SURPRISED

That anybody should be surprised about this development in such a context must disappoint those who are aware that the democratic system is based on the assumption of effective communication with the electorate.

There is nothing to indicate that there is any chance that the Legislature will reconsider its decision of 1965. Most of its members are persuaded, according to all appearances, that a changing world requires such a program.

There is an awareness that there are at least as many young men and women in Wisconsin requiring job training after high school as there are worthy candidates for enrollment at the more costly state-financed universities.

But the program won't be inexpensive. The law permits a levy of up to two mills on equalized valuation to be levied by the new districts. This is somewhat higher than the old limit which was two mills on assessed valuation.

SOME WITHIN LIMITS

Some of the districts with the most comprehensive programs and plants are managing well within those limits. But future expansion, and especially the provision of satellite schools in some of the sprawling districts where students are distant from the parent school, the possibility of publicly paid transportation of students, enriched curricula and other factors will push up the costs even as the budgets of other elements of the public school program will grow more costly.

Inevitably, the pressure upon the local tax base will bring a clamor for more state and federal aid. Such assistance in the state as a whole now amounts to about a third of the vocational school outlay. It may well rise to one-half when the program is fully operative, according to some of the best informed officials.

Strictly Personal
Romney's Slum Tour
Cost Harris' Support

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS
Governor Romney didn't lost my respect with his "brain-washing" statement: that was merely a loose use of a slippery word. Where he lost it was, a few weeks later, in his tour of the urban slums.

When, during his Chicago visit, reporters asked him a question and I won't answer it now, because I'm not on a political tour."

Harris

If anything could be more politically inspired than his tour of urban slums at this particular time, I can't imagine what it would be. Moreover, the tour itself was a cheap and vulgar way of trying to dramatize his interest in the slum problem.

There is no need for the governor of Michigan, who presumably knows what the Detroit ghetto is like, to visit the slums of Chicago or any other big city. For the important thing about them is that they are all depressingly alike. For, like a governor's inauguration, once you've seen one, you've seen them all.

Even if there were significant differences among the slums, how could any celebrated visitor distinguish in a half-day of trotting around, shaking a few hands, riding a bus, and chatting with people who have little but sullen contempt for what he represents?

I am not talking politics here, but simply human relations. What is cruel and corrupt and bestial in the slums is not so much the actual physical living conditions — ghastly as they are — but the mental and emotional and spiritual miasma that suffocates its inhabitants from birth.

The whole sub-culture of the slums — anywhere and everywhere — is based on a value system of its own: a system not acknowledged, and scarcely recognized, by upright and myopic men like Governor Romney, no matter which party they belong to.

This system has the code of the jungle, where a vicious struggle for existence goes on every day. Words like "law" and "justice" and "liberty" are meaningless verbal counters there; the operative words are "connections" and "fox" and "muscle" and "shake-down" and "payoff" and such realistic colloquialisms.

There, "government" is an abstraction; "authority" is a menace, "police protection" is a sour joke, "opportunity" is a fast buck. It is a world of precinct captains and profertors and runners, juice operators and drug peddlers, absent landlords and predatory merchants — as far from the clean, clear-eyed and oddly naive world of Governor Romney as Kalka's castle from the Emerald City of Oz.

Brothers Coach Leading Passing Teams in Nation

NEW YORK (AP) — The annual passing war between brothers Bobby and Glenn Dobbs is in full swing with Bobby winning the latest battle in the college football offensive statistical rankings.

The University of Texas at El Paso, coached by Bobby, replaced Tulsa, coached by Glenn, as the passing leader this week with an average of 330.6 yards a game through the air. National Collegiate Sports Service statistics showed today.

The battle between the brothers has been going on since Bobby left Tulsa for UTEP three years ago and Glenn replaced him. Discounting the first two warmup weeks of each season since 1965, Tulsa and UTEP have ranked 1-2 or 2-1 nationally in passing 16 times in 21 weeks.

Tulsa also gave up its month-long lead in total offense to UTEP, 436.0 yards a game to 429.8.

Texas Tech climbed from fourth to take the rushing lead with 269.4 yards a game on the ground, ahead of East Carolina's 251.3. Tech rolled up 359 yards rushing in a 24-10 victory over Rice.

In scoring, it was again UTEP and Tulsa, 43.2 points a game to 35.2, the same places they held last week.

HOUSTON (AP) — University of Houston fullback Paul Gipson gave the Cougar offensive line credit today for his being named Associated Press College Back of the Week.

The 205-pound junior's performance last Saturday in the Cougars' 15-14 defeat of the ranked Georgia earned him the honor.

He ground out 229 yards on 29 carries, scored on a 25-yard run and raced around end for the winning two-point conversion.

He also added a 13-yard gain and Georgia defensive halfback Terry Sellers was left groggy after tackling the bruising fullback. On the next play Houston quarterback Dick Woodall hit split end Ken Herbert with a 37-yard scoring pass. Both Houston and Georgia players felt Sellers' slightly dazed condition was a big factor in Herbert's catch of the pass.

"Those guys up front did a great job all night," Gipson said of the offensive line. "Even after we muffed a couple of scoring chances, they kept opening up holes—they never gave up."

Browns Are Improved On Defense

34-14 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers last Sunday. "Brewer," he said, "is greatly improved."

"Offensively, we are much the same (the Browns rank fifth in NFL scoring with 283 points)."

Vate reported, "Frank (quarterback Ryan) has missed a lot of practices because of his various ailments, but he has done a fine job."

"In fact, he will be going into Sunday's game with a record of having thrown a touchdown pass in 23 consecutive games, which is an all-time Cleveland record."

"And Leroy Kelly is now leading the league in rushing. He also leads the league in total offense, while Ernie Green (Kelly's running mate at fullback) is third."

If these items were not sufficient to trouble the Packer faithful, Wallack concluded his summary with another sobering intelligence. "Blanton (Collier, Cleveland's headmaster) thought we played our best game of the season last Sunday. He said we put everything together for the first time."

Back at it after the customary Monday hiatus, the Packers ran through a closed practice in the confines of Lambeau Field late Tuesday morning. Elijah Pitts was not among those present, of course, although fellow casualty Jim Grabowski, troubled with a twisted knee, was in evidence.

Pitts was receiving treatment for a slightly torn achilles tendon, incurred in Sunday's loss to Baltimore. "They'll both miss the Cleveland game," Coach Vince Lombardi said today.

Original Plays to Open 1967-68 Theater Season At Lawrence University

Director F. Theodore Cloak Praises Work of Three Student Playwrights

Lawrence University Theatre opens its current season Nov. 15 with three new plays by student playwrights. The students are Mark Keller, Lizbeth Tulsy and Jeffrey Woodward. Their plays are one-act dramas called "Goelok," "The Last Love of Medea" and "Sprung Rhythm."

The original one-acts will be seen nightly in the experimental theater at Lawrence Music-Drama Center. Curtain time for all performances is 8 p.m. The production runs through Sunday Nov. 19.

Tickets for this opening production and for the entire Lawrence Theater season as well as available at the University box office in the Music-Drama Center at 115 N. Park ave.

The plays are first among three major productions at Lawrence this year. Future presentations will be "The Merchant of Venice," by Shakespeare (February 20-25); and "The Physicists," by Friedrich Durrenmatt (May 8-11).

Cloak Directing

Director of the opening plays is F. Theodore Cloak, chairman of the University's department of theater and drama. Cloak holds the Evangeline H. Bergstrom professorship in fine arts.

Cloak

The three student-written plays are the first to be done here as a major Lawrence Theatre production, according to Cloak.

"Goelok," described by the director as "a remarkable piece of realism," is the second of Keller's plays to be produced at Lawrence. The first, "Dakota Death," was given on the student-directed one-act series two seasons ago.

Also Moviemaker

Keller, Edina, Minn., is a college junior. He spent part of last year away from the campus on a movie-making project.

Miss Tulsy's play is described as a poetic drama based on the classical Greek legend of Medea. The playwright is a senior from Skokie, Ill.

New 'Bedtime' Play Unlikely To Succeed

'90-Day Mistress' Hackneyed in Plot, Direction, Say Critics

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Ninety-Day Mistress," a play unlikely to last nearly that long, opened this week at Broadway's Biltmore theater.

On hand in the trite boy-girl bedtime skirmish are Dylan LeMay over his monthly edition of Cannon and Martin Milner, a regular traveler on TV's "Route 66." Their performances won't start a boxoffice stampede. The material with which they work is hackneyed. The play is about a man and a woman who are married and who are trying to make a life together. Cinerama on Comeback Trail; Company, Plans Reorganized

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Cinerama, long the sick giant among film companies, appears to be finally doing something about curing its ills.

At least that's the prognosis from Seymour Poe, new president of Cinerama. Poe was Darryl Zanuck's right-hand man in the rebuilding of 20th Century-Fox from near-bankruptcy to blooming prosperity, and he has the same hopes for Cinerama.

The wide-screen process burst on the movie scene in 1952 with its stomach-fluttering roller coaster ride, and its corporate fortunes have followed the same general course Cinerama has experienced highs with its initial travelogue films and "How the West Was Won" and lows with "The Hallelujah Trail" and "The Greatest Story Ever Told."

Revitalized Program

The company's finances were a jumble when they were taken over a couple of years ago by William R. Forman, a California theater chain owner. Poe reported that Forman has since cleaned up Cinerama's money woes, and a new $8-million loan from Chemical Bank New York Trust Co. was announced last week.

"Now we are able to proceed on a three-prong program for Cinerama," said Poe, here briefly to discuss projects.

"A fledgling playwright from Tufts College, J. J. Coyle, has discovered sex. I'd like to report that the cause of sex has been advanced but it hasn't."

Richard Watts Jr., New York Post: "While there are many things that may be justly said about the backwardness of the American drama, it has surely advanced beyond comedies like 'The Ninety-Day Mistress.' (It) is not an enlivening comedy."

Rare Book Theft

Hearing Thursday

MADISON (AP)—A preliminary hearing was scheduled for Thursday on grand theft charges lodged against Richard Bauman, 29, of Milton in the disappearance of rare books from the University of Wisconsin library.

Two additional counts of grand theft were lodged against Bauman last weekend. He was arraigned earlier on two other counts and held in $4,000 bond. The latest charges accuse him of taking books valued at $6,950.

White Backlash Fails In 3 Mayoral Contests

Fraud Claimed By Loser in Indiana Vote

Hatcher Posts
Margin of 1,495
Over Republican

GARY, Ind. (AP) — Negro Democrat Richard G. Hatcher won a 1,495-vote victory for mayor of this steel-producing city and his white Republican opponent said today there was fraudulent voting.

The loser, Joseph Radigan, charged that in two precincts "more voters voted than were on the rolls."

The Lake County election

Hatcher

board refused to certify Hatcher immediately as the winner because of the questioned votes in the two precincts where Hatcher won top-heavy margins.

The election board includes John Krupa, county Democratic chairman who refused from the time Hatcher was nominated to support him. Board members said they were "in a quandary whether they may properly sign the official canvass" and would present the voting figures to federal Judge George N. Beemer in nearby Hammond later today and seek his instructions.

Refusing to concede victory to the 34-year-old bachelor lawyer who ran without the help of the local Democratic organization, Radigan told his supporters, "We feel there is need for further investigation before it can be decided who won this election." No formal demand for a recount had yet been made.

Complete but unofficial returns showed that a record turnout had given Hatcher 39,994 votes to 38,499 for Radigan.

Hatcher told 600 jubilant supporters at his headquarters, "We're convinced that we have won this election. Despite fears and rumors, our city is still intact."

Mrs. Hicks Defeated By White

BOSTON (AP) — Strong support from Negro voters helped Kevin H. White to a 12,000-vote victory Tuesday in his race against Louise Day Hicks for mayor of Boston. The results were consistent with voting in two other major-city mayoral contests, where expected white backlash votes failed to materialize. In Cleveland, Negro Carl B. Stokes defeats Seth C. Taft and in Gary, Ind., Richard G. Hatcher narrowly beat Republican Joseph B. Radigan.

While the race issue often went unspoken by either candidate during the campaign, Mrs. Hicks was known to be a vigorous opponent of busing to achieve racial balance in the city's schools.

"You know where I stand," she told the voters repeatedly. Unofficial returns from the city's 275 precincts gave White 102,551 votes to 90,122 for Mrs. Hicks.

A preliminary examination of voting patterns showed the white vote to be split about even and the Negro vote to be solidly behind White, the Massachusetts secretary of state.

30,000 Negroes
In the city's three predominantly Negro wards—9, 12 and 14—White outpolled Mrs. Hicks 15,352 to 3,214. He also ran well in other Negro areas. Unofficial estimates place the total of Negroes among the city's 286,000 registered voters at 30,000.

White said, "No man or woman is going to tear this city apart with hate or bigotry or false promises."

Although racial issues were a key factor, observers estimated that Mrs. Hicks' position was weakened in the closing days of the campaign by her promise of

Taft Beaten in Cleveland

Stokes Becomes First Negro to Lead Big City

CLEVELAND (AP) — Carl B. Stokes, a product of the slums, as liberal as Stokes. He took a stand against the Taft-Hartley act and said he would use the mayor's authority to push equal

Stokes, in all his battles up the social, economic and political ladders, never had to fight harder than he did to beat Republican Seth C. Taft for Cleveland's mayoral office.

His razor-thin edge of 2,501 votes—129,329 to 127,328—was in doubt almost to the end.

Grabs Lead

Taft, a grandson of a president and nephew of the late U.S. Sen. Robert A. Taft, grabbed a sizeable lead early and held it until Negro East Side votes began to come in.

Stokes lost no time after his victory to call for a united Cleveland. He asked for his opponent to join him in building a better city.

Taft responded. He asked his supporters, who had tried to make him the first Republican mayor of Cleveland in 26 years, to "forget words spoken in heat and to think now of things that can be done to make ours a great city."

Taft said he would wait until he saw the official tally before deciding whether to call for a recount. Two years ago when Stokes lost his independent race against Democratic Mayor Ralph S. Locher by 2,143 he got a recount before he conceded.

Within Range

Stokes received heavy support from the Negro East Side. He came out of the white sections trailing but within striking range. He substantially increased his percentage of the white vote from the 17 per cent he received in the primary.

Stokes, 40 and a natty dresser with an easy humor, bucked his own Democratic Party organization to defeat Locher in the Oct. 3 primary by 18,000 votes. This time he had the backing of his party, organized labor and Cleveland's two daily newspapers, the Plain Dealer and the Cleveland Press.

He and Taft sought to avoid the racial issue but it could not be ignored and one of the heaviest votes in Cleveland's history—257,153—turned out despite a day that began with sub-freezing temperatures and driving snow.

Stokes had been considered a slight favorite at best after a month-long campaign in which observers felt he had pulled a political blunder by agreeing to debate Taft.

Just as Liberal

Taft, running for his first political office, surprised even his opponent by the way he took to campaigning. He is a Republican in a city where all but 34,000 of its 326,000 registered voters are Democrats.

Wind Threatens to Halt Thursday Saturn Launch

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The countdown proceeded smoothly today toward Thursday's planned launching of the Saturn 5 super rocket, but the weatherman injected a disquieting note with a forecast of marginal wind conditions.

The weather forecast for the scheduled 7 a.m. EST launch called for winds of 21 miles an hour, with gusts up to 29 miles per hour. Sustained gusts at this speed could prevent a launch.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported all other preparations were on schedule and that two hours lost Tuesday were made up during the night.

The 88-story-tall rocket is the largest, most powerful ever built. The maiden launching will be a high-stakes fight to test its worthiness as a thoroughbred workhorse for the American space program.

The workmen spent Tuesday readying an Apollo spacecraft, much like the one astronauts will use for the moon trip for its ride atop Saturn 5. Today's launch is scheduled for 7 a.m. EST.

Garner Never Accused Of Being a Longfellow

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — John Nance Garner didn't wear lace on his tongue when he wanted to get to the point. But some people, who missed the point, wished he sounded more like Henry Wadsworth Longfellow than like Cactus Jack.

It was about 1934 and Garner, who died Tuesday at 98, was vice president. I was a reporter then on a New Orleans newspaper. The night Garner arrived in town was a quiet one and it was late, around 10:30.

The city editor called me over and told me: "See what you can get out of Vice President Garner. He just got in from Washington. He's on his way home to Texas. He's probably over at the Texas and Pacific station."

Ready to Leave
He sent a photographer along, too. We went to the T&P depot. There was a train getting ready to leave for Texas. The gateman was still letting a few straggling passengers through.

I asked him: "Did the vice president go through here yet?"

"How would I know?" the gateman said. "We got about 10 of them. I don't know one from the other."

"I didn't know there were that many," I said. "I must have been misinformed. I thought we had only had one vice president."

The gateman said: "What vice president are you talking about?"

I said: "The vice president of the United States."

"Oh, I don't know," the gateman said. "He may have gone through. I don't know him. I thought you were talking about the T&P vice presidents. Go on through and go through the train and look for him."

The photographer and I got on the train. We didn't have much hope. The train was a long row of sleepers. And so far as I could see in that last car where we were all the berths were made up and all the curtains were drawn.

Last Car
I told the photographer to go up front and start with the first car and work his way back. I told him to call out for the vice president and if he found him to come back and get me.

I started with the last car. With those curtains drawn, I didn't know whether anyone was still awake. It was the same in the second car, and in the third.

I walked through, calling out "Vice President Garner" and "Mr. Garner." No good in that last car. No good in the second. But halfway through the third a voice behind a curtain in a lower berth said, "Who wants him?"

It wasn't a gentle voice. It was kind of gritty. But I tal-that was no way to have a vice president talking. So he changed it and when the paper came out it had Garner saying:

"No, indeed. I am not going to get out of bed for anyone."

Friends Pay Respects for
'Cactus Jack'

UVALDE, Tex. (AP) — Friends and neighbors paid last respects today to former Vice President John Nance Garner, who left Washington in 1941 swearing he would never cross the Potomac River again—and never did.

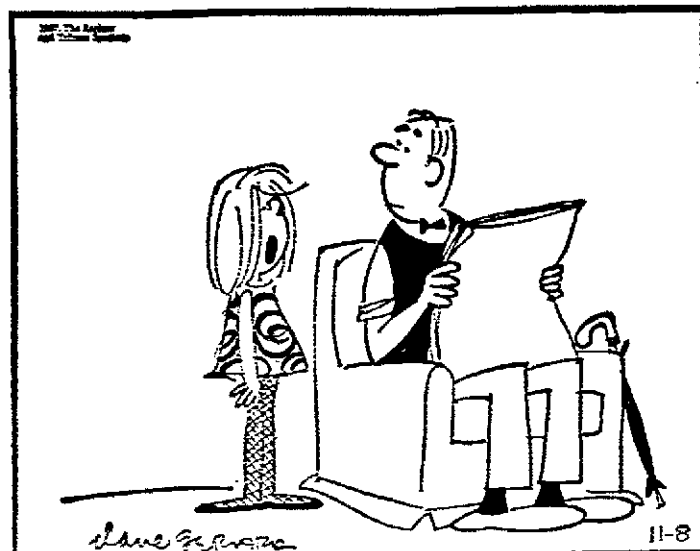

Garner died early Tuesday, just 15 days short of his 99th birthday.

Hundreds who knew him as a Texas legislator, as a congressman for 30 years, and as vice president under Franklin D. Roosevelt from 1932 to 1940, sent condolences.

"Few have given so long a time and fewer still have used their years to such advantage," President Lyndon B. Johnson said in Washington.

"He enjoyed the respect of all different breed of cat" from their parents, said Dr. Thomas Bennett, director of graduate studies at George Williams College, Downer's Grove, Ill. Bennett is a father of six.

Bird Migrations Studied by Radar

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Radar is for the birds at the University of Colorado.

Dr. Warren L. Flock is tracking migration of birds on radar, hoping to learn more about the possible role of radar in reducing the danger of airplane-bird collisions.

Flock, an electrical engineer, said the research eventually may provide a basis for predicting bird migrations and guiding planes over or around large flocks of birds.

Culture, Not Age, Separate Generations

KANSAS CITY (AP) — It is not so much the difference in age but the differences in culture and environment that separate young people from adults nowadays, a national conference of Camp Fire Girls leaders was told Monday.

"Children today are a very different breed of cat" from their parents, said Dr. Thomas Bennett, director of graduate studies at George Williams College, Downer's Grove, Ill. Bennett is a father of six.

"Most of us grew up in a dramatically different economy," he said. "Scarcity was a fact of life. Depression was not a psychological term but an economic fact."

In contrast, Bennett said, the youngster of today lives in an economy of abundance, and "thrift is an alien subject."

"We need to revise our assumptions and change our skills," he added.

$1.48 Million Bond Issue Faces Weyauwega Voters

Nov. 18 Referendum to Decide Fate of School Expansion

WEYAUWEGA — Electors of guidance area, private study the joint school district will vote on a $1.48 million bond issue for a proposed building program at a special election Nov. 18.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the Weyauwega City Hall and the Fremont Village Hall.

The proposed building program would cause a tax increase of $2.80 per $1,000 of equalized valuation. Costs included are construction, $1,197,399; equipment, $149,950; site improvements, $38,500; bond consultants, $5,920, and professional services, $83,240.

Under the building program a new 3-year high school would be constructed on property presently owned by the district. The plant would be ready for occupancy in 1969. The high school would house 350 students and could be expanded for 550 or more.

The present high school building would be converted into a junior high for grades 7, 8 and 9 and new additions would be built at the elementary school here and in Fremont for kindergarten through sixth grade, with a completion date set for the fall of 1968.

Schools Closed
With these additions completed, Tustin, Wolf River and Evanswood schools would be closed, and the need to rent classroom space in the Fremont Town Hall, First Presbyterian Church and the Scout House would be eliminated. The mobile classrooms now being used for remedial reading, nursing services and special classes would be sold.

The 3-year high school was recommended over the 4-year school because it would provide more suitable facilities for all grade levels and at minimum additional cost. The elementary additions would be completed in 1968, a year earlier than those of a 4-year high school plan, relieving crowded conditions at an earlier date.

Extended high school courses are now limited because of their long-time hobbies. Mrs. Dexter recently has become a designer and sculptress for Gare now offers drafting and wood-Ceramic Industries, Inc., Haverhill, Mass. also qualified to teach power mechanics, printing, metal work and photography.

Better facilities are also needed for a language laboratory.

"The Direction In Which Education Starts A Man Will Determine His Future Life."

It might amaze you to know that a man by the name of Plato made that pronouncement sometime before 347 B.C.

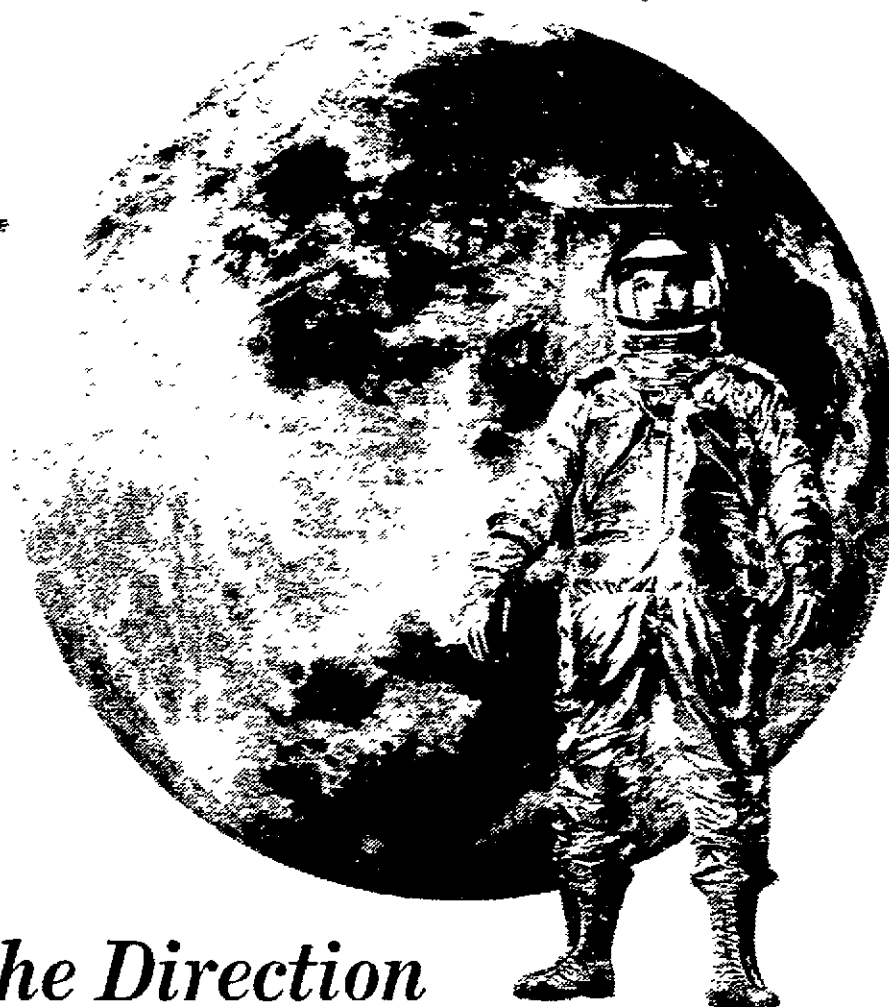

Things change, yet the more they change, the more they remain the same!

It's always been the challenge of civilization to educate young people. We in the newspaper business are acutely aware that tomorrow's leaders are in the classroom today. There's quite a knowledge gap between the most up-to-date textbook and what's happening in the world at this moment. That is why newspapers are called "living textbooks."

Starting early to develop an awareness of the news gives young people a better understanding of the world about them. That is why we sponsor a News Filmstrip series sent weekly to a selected list of local schools. Through this educational program the day's news becomes alive and exciting! Interests are broadened! Young people are motivated to satisfy an awakened curiosity and develop the newspaper reading habit!

Education, as Plato said over 23 centuries ago, determines the future, and the hope of the future lies in the youth in the nation's classrooms today!

It is our challenge to insure that American Democracy plays an increasingly important role in the most dynamic society known to man!

Valley Area Officials Will Question VTE-12 Budget

Meet Thursday With Vocational Board at Menasha Town Hall

An effort will be made Thursday night by a six-man delegation of city, village and town officials from a four-county area to have the area vocational outlay items on the annual tax school board reconsider its proposed 1968 budget.

The municipal officials will meet with members of the Vocational, Technical and Adult Education District 12 Board (VTE-12) at the Town of Menasha municipal building at 7:30 p.m.

The VTE operating budget calling for a levy of $1,939,876 and a sharp boost in vocational taxes throughout the district has elected officials up in arms.

Reportedly included in the budget is about $660,000 for capital outlay, such as land acquisition and planning for a new regional vocational school.

At a recent meeting in Appleton, about 50 representatives of 27 municipalities in Outagamie, Waupaca, Winnebago and Calumet counties threatened to instruct clerks to withhold tax payments unless a compromise could be reached with the VTE Board to bond for some items in its operational budget.

Robert Jacobs, clerk of the Town of Menasha and chairman of the officials' group, announced today that the VTE Board has agreed to the meeting tomorrow night.

Other members of the committee include: Thomas Thorsen, chairman of the Town of Grand Chute; Charles Schaller, Neenah city attorney; Orville Manz, Hilbert village president; Alvin Hendrichs, Manawa councilman; and Assemblyman William Rogers (D-Kaukauna).

"We expect to get a full explanation of the vocational municipal officials' group will address the board, according to Jacobs.

County Board Rejects Plan To Cut Budget

Taxpayer Group Asked Reduction Of $204,000

Taxpayer Association recommendations for reducing the proposed 1968 Outagamie County budget by $204,000 were rejected Tuesday by the County Board's Finance Committee.

The association had recommended cutting two highway projects, increasing revenue estimates from shared income and utility taxes and increasing revenue estimates at Riverview Sanitarium and the Golden Age home.

The committee rejected the proposed revenue increases from shared taxes on the grounds it would leave the county in financial trouble if the added revenue failed to materialize. They indicated they had already increased revenue estimates at Riverview and the Golden Age home and that further increases would defeat the purpose of the programs.

Rejection of the proposal to cut the two highway projects was done on the basis that both projects had been started last year and should be finished.

Mayor Reports on Some Vandalism Over Halloween

NEW LONDON — Mayor Harry S. Emans, at Tuesday's city council meeting, expressed concern over the actions of several 17-year-olds during the Halloween celebration.

Cutting of trees and shooting off firecrackers on windows are beyond normal pranks, Emans said. He said the dangerous action of the firecrackers had brought several calls to his office.

Capt. Raymond Oberstadt said that five 17-year-olds had admitted the tree-cutting incident and that the matter of restitution had been referred to Ray Pellsch, public works director.

Oberstadt said that two other 17-year-olds were suspected of the firecracker incident, but wouldn't sign statements admitting the vandalism.

Cost Estimates Off Airport Designers Criticized

Ralph Burke Associates, consulting engineering firm for the Outagamie County Airport, was Esler also attacked the cost of the $163,000 hangar for Maxair. The estimate had been $100,000.

Donahue said the hangar was bigger than the one originally proposed and noted the county was getting proportionately more rent.

Supv. Joseph DeBruin, Town of Buchanan, questioned the cost of the well which was $9,825 in comparisons to cost estimates $4,000. "This is way out of line," he said.

Donahue said the final cost was the actual amount of bids from local firms.

"Poor Planning" Lenz charged that the true costs of the airport were not shown in financial statement. "I think this is poor planning and engineering," he said.

The amount of federal aid which has been received to date also came under sharp questioning. Esler wanted to know why the county could not find out how much reimbursement there had been for land acquisition. The county has received a total of $453,600 in federal aid and $30,000 in state aid.

Supv. John Dietz, Appleton, a member of the Airport Committee, explained that the federal aid is being applied against eligible construction projects and the funds remaining would then be applied toward land acquisition. This was being done, he said, because it was possible to get retroactive aid on land but not on construction projects.

Supv. Eugene Kloes, Appleton, who had suggested the Airport Committee develop detailed project plans before asking for any more money from the board, jokingly said he regretted bringing it up. After looking at the plans, Kloes said, "now they know what they want."

Building Permit Approve Appeals In New London

NEW LONDON — Two building permits previously denied by the building inspector were ruled upon favorably Monday by the city board of appeals.

James E. Edminster, Jennings Road, was granted a permit to construct a 22 foot wide attached garage on a home he is planning to build on Jefferson Street, city ordinance.

Bonding Halted For Expansion At Airport

wanted to end piecemeal financing.

Supv. Russell DeLaHunt, Kaukauna, who, after voting against the bond issue, said, "I believe the airport will succeed in spite of ourselves."

Supv. Clarence Miller, Appleton, questioned the value of seeking federal aid and then wanted to know where the spending was going to end.

"When we started the airport we said we would do it alone. Now we want federal and state aid. It costs us $3 to get $1 so we are not ahead," Miller said.

After looking at a financial report on what has been spent thus far at the airport, Miller said the proposed bond issue would raise the total to $5.2 million. "Where will it stop? At $10 million?" he asked.

After opposition to the bond issue proved, Kostka, chairman of the Airport Committee, said they would be willing to drop plans for the taxiways and the extra 500 feet to make the Northeast-Southwest runway 7,000 feet. This would have reduced the bond issue by another $632,600 and left in the extensions to 5,000 feet for one runway and 6,500 for the other.

There was no indication of any acceptance of his offer.

Supv. Eugene Kloes, Appleton, who had suggested the Airport Committee develop detailed project plans before asking for any more money from the board, jokingly said he regretted bringing it up. After looking at the plans, Kloes said, "now they know what they want."

Edminster had sought a permit to construct a 24 foot garage on the 80' x 120 foot lot.

An appeal by Gregory Charlesworth, 417 Law St., to construct a 10 foot car port attached to an existing garage was approved.

Both permits had been denied because the types and size of construction didn't coincide with city ordinance.

Holmes Says Time to Offer Vocation Site

MENASHA — Mayor Kenneth Holmes read a newspaper account of an Outagamie County proposal to offer land for a district vocational school, and told the common council Monday night "now is the time" for the city to act if it wishes to make a similar offer.

The mayor's report was the first official public mention here of the Outagamie County Board executive committee's suggestion.

The committee has suggested making 100 acres of county farm land available to Vocational, Technical and Adult Education District 12, on U.S. 41 at Wisconsin Avenue west of Appleton.

However, Sylvester Esler, board chairman, has been quoted as more strongly favoring building a new University of Wisconsin extension center there, and locating the district vocational school where the present extension center is located.

Kaukauna's Budget Up $469,361

Mayor Raps Three Areas Of Budget

KAUKAUNA — Mayor Gilbert Anderson assailed three areas of the proposed 1968 budget after hearing that the record $4,490,295 spending package will result in an increase of $4 per $1,000 assessed valuation in the tax rate.

"The increase of $2.50 per $1,000 in the county tax was due to the shifting by the State of Wisconsin back to the county, and thus our local government, of over $550,000 in welfare aids without any increase in revenues," said Anderson.

He felt the State Legislature should take a long, hard look at this shifting of responsibility and come up with some added source of revenue to help offset the cost to property owners.

School Budgets
The high and grade school budget represents an increase of $4 per $1,000 in assessed valuation. Most of this is due to wage increases, but most of it could have been absorbed if Kaukauna were included in equalized aids from the state.

Anderson said. He urged aldermen and others to contact their representatives in the State Senate and Assembly to have the state aid formula changed.

Putting Kaukauna on equalized aids or some other formula would help the taxpayer considerably, the mayor noted. He pointed out that Kaukauna is one of 34 school systems in the state being penalized by qualifying for flat aids.

Vocational Budget

Noting the area vocational school budget, Mayor Anderson said, "this represents an increase of almost $2 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. I do not object to the area school, but I do object to the method of financing this project."

Pointing to these areas and the $3.50 per $1,000 hike in the tax rate which could have resulted, Mayor Anderson praised the council's finance committee, other committees and department heads for trying to keep the budget and tax rate from skyrocketing.

"I hope that increased property relief aids by the state could be available, especially to our retired people where income stays the same, but where living costs constantly keep mounting," the mayor said.

KIMBERLY — Ernest Schampers, 1128 N. Wilson St., Little Chute, complained to police, an aerial was torn from his car while it was parked in the Kimberly-Clark Corp. parking lot sometime Monday.

Stolen Chemicals Dangerous, Warn Kimberly Police

KIMBERLY — Village police are asking the cooperation of citizens in locating potentially dangerous chemicals stolen from the Junior High School science room in a Sunday night break-in.

Loss of the chemicals was not noted immediately, but was discovered Tuesday. Two large bottles of potassium chlorate were missing from the science laboratory.

An explosion could result if the chemicals are heated, exposed to a concussion or mixed with certain other chemicals. An overdose of the salt is an active poison, police said.

The chemical is used in the making of explosives and should be treated with caution, they warned.

Grade Schools In Kimberly Set Visiting Day

KIMBERLY — Students in the Kimberly Elementary School sets for 1968 were estimated at $329,147, a decrease from the six will not have classes Thursday as visitation days will be held at the schools.

Parents have received notification of times to attend. Teachers will be in classrooms from 8:15 a.m. and 1 to 4:30 p.m. Visits will range from five to 15 minutes, depending on the size of the class and specific needs of individual students.

Kindergarten students will attend classes as usual Thursday as visitation day for them will be held later this month.

Explorer Scouts To Sell Flares In Kimberly Area

KIMBERLY — Explorer Scout Troop 200 is planning a sale of safety flares at the Kimberly-Clark Corp. mill Friday and Saturday and in the village next week.

The flares are for use by motorists to warn other drivers in the event of a vehicle breakdown. Scouts will be stationed at the main door to the plant from 5 to 7:30 a.m. and 5 to 6 p.m. this week.

Spending Proposal Calls for $4 Increase in City Tax Rate

KAUKAUNA — The common council accepted a tentative 1968 budget of $4,490,295 Tuesday night, $2,120,034 of which will be raised through taxes with a rate of $66 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The 1967 budget was $4,025,934, $1,836,094 of which was raised by tax levy with a $62 tax rate. This year's total budget is up $469,361, and the tax levy has increased $283,940.

High and grade school operation costs for 1968 were set at $2,007,361, an increase of $338,200 from 1967. County taxes were estimated at $265,000, an increase of $78,045. These accounted for most of the budget increase.

Other Increases

General government costs are expected to be $184,035 next year, compared with $164,484 this year. Protection to persons and property will increase from $336,229 to $390,905 and health and sanitation costs were set at $466,377, compared with $411,212 this year.

Street and public works projects for 1968 were estimated at $329,147, a decrease from the $381,144 appropriated in 1967. Parks and athletic field costs were increased from $35,658 to $52,502, and the recreational budget was increased from $62,706 to $65,470.

Debt Payments
Bonded indebtedness payments remained fairly constant—$253,307 in 1967 and $255,054 in 1968. Fire and police pension deficits were set at $5,200, compared with $3,182 in 1967 and the road fund was increased from $55,428 to $68,050. The sewer fund decreased from $120,807 to $104,575.

The welfare department budget was increased from $9,817 to $11,175, and the public library budget increased from $45,744 to $54,700. Vocational school budget for 1967 was $144,769 compared with $83,769 in 1968.

The actual cost of operating the Vocational School is up about $21,000 for the city, but $1.25. Proceeds will be used to finance trips and activities by Explorers. James Ellerbusch is general chairman for the project.

Kimberly Board Discusses Extension of Street Lights

KIMBERLY — Extension of the mercury vapor light system was discussed by the village board Monday night. Currently mercury vapor lights are located in the business district. The board will meet with representatives of the Wisconsin Michigan Power Company to determine if similar lighting can be provided throughout the community over a period of years.

In other action the board approved a resolution vacating a portion of S. Pine Street. The board proposes to change the official village map deleting approximately 135 feet of S. Pine Street extending from Third Street south to the Chicago and Northwestern Railway tracks. The proposal will be discussed at a Dec. 4 public hearing.

Board members set 7 p.m. Dec. 6 for a public hearing on the 1968 budget. The budget will be completed around Thanksgiving when final state and county tax figures are available.

Robert Remmel was named to the planning board to fill the
